U.S., Saud "In Full Accord"

Soviet Ousts American Duo

Naval Attaches Attacked, U.S. Embassy Says

MOSCOW, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union today expelled two more U.S. military attaches, accusing them of taking pictures of "a building of defense significance."

The action followed a Leningrad incident in which both men were attacked, the U.S. Embassy said.

Marine Corps Capt. Paul R. Uffelman, 31, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Navy Lt. William S. Lewis of Guthrie, Okla., were ordered expelled from the Soviet Union at once.

Little Material Effect

But except for its propaganda value, the order had little material effect. Uffelman already has completed his duty tour here, and with Mrs. Uffelman already had reservations to leave for Berlin by train on Feb. 11, en route home. Lewis is in West Germany on leave and will not return to Moscow.

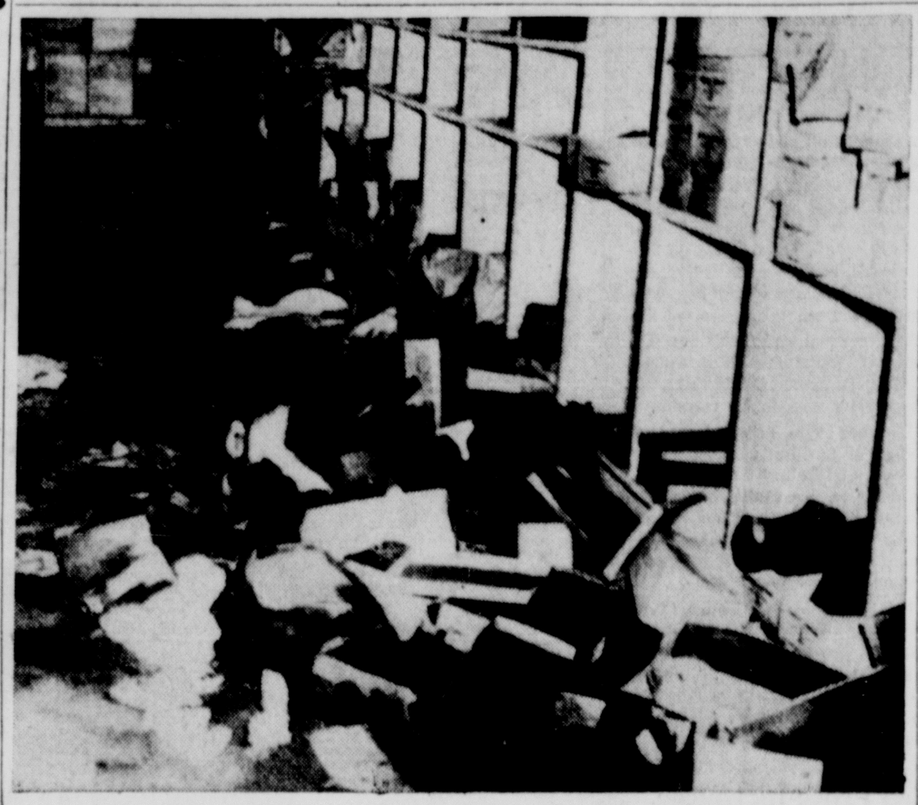
The Soviet action followed the expulsion on Jan. 30 of two U. S. military attaches, Maj. Hubert Tansey of Alexandria, Va., and Capt. Charles Stockell of Jacksonville, Fla., on charges of "engaging in activities incompatible with their diplomatic status."

It also came close on the heels of yesterday's elaborately staged and televised news conference at the Soviet Foreign Ministry at which press chief L. F. Ilyichev charged the United States with waging a secret war on Russia through a massive espionage campaign. As part of the show Ilyichev produced four live "spies", Russians who said they had been captured in 1953 and 1954.

Retaliation Move

The expulsion of Uffelman and Lewis, which appeared to be a further retaliation for the arrest of alleged Soviet spies in the United States and the deportation of Soviet diplomats, was in answer to a strong U.S. protest.

The United States charged the two naval attaches were attacked by a crowd in civilian clothes in Leningrad on Jan. 25, and were detained in the Leningrad police station in violation of their diplomatic immunity. The State Department said the two attaches were in an "open" area—where cameras are permitted.



Prison Rioters' Reminder

Asia-African Group Would Punish Israel

Powerful U.N. Bloc Drafting Resolution To Invoke Sanctions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—The powerful Asian-African group of 27 U.N. members is drawing up a resolution to condemn and punish Israel for refusal to withdraw from Egypt.

It would impose economic, financial and military restrictions—called sanctions—on the Israelis.

A spokesman disclosed this course after a brief Asian-African session today. The group hopes to present the resolution Monday in the 80-nation General Assembly.

Israel Stands Firm

Israel meanwhile showed no signs of yielding despite a personal message from President Eisenhower, continuing efforts of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and repeated U.N. Assembly appeals.

The Asian-African group effort had been held in abeyance after other delegations pleaded that Israel might comply with a moderately worded request to leave the Aqaba Gulf area and the Gaza Stip. The Assembly then made its sixth request to Israel to leave but Israel replied with questions as to guarantees of Israel security.

Assembly Meeting Asked

Abdul Monem Rifa'i of Jordan, February president of the Asian-Africans, said the basic argument used by the group is that "sanctions must be applied against Israel."

He called for a meeting of the Assembly next week and said he expects Hammarskjold to report before the Assembly meets.

An authoritative source said the United States is not initiating any move for restrictions on Israel but would consider any proposals.

Israeli sources said the question of sanctions does not frighten Israel.

Kefauver Says Aides Ignored Ike Warnings

Failed To Raise Issue Of Prices With Oil Firms

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said today some administration officials, in dealing with the oil industry, have virtually ignored warnings of President Eisenhower and others about inflation.

During testimony of Florida witnesses who urged a rollback of recent increased oil prices, Kefauver said Eisenhower had repeatedly urged that the line be held on prices and wages. But he said officials had failed to "raise the issue" with oil companies, which recently raised prices.

His remarks were made at a joint session of the Senate Antimonopoly and Interior subcommittees inquiring into the emergency oil for Europe program and into the oil price increases.

Officials Didn't "Follow Up"

Referring to testimony earlier by Arthur Flemming, outgoing defense mobilizer: Felix Wormser, assistant secretary of the interior, and Hugh Stewart, head of the Interior Department's Oil and Gas Division, Kefauver said these men sat in meetings with big oil companies on the European program.

It doesn't do too much good, he commented, to have general warnings and "those who have charge of running the shop do not follow up and be unwilling to raise the issue with the oil companies. . . ."

Wormser's testimony, he continued, indicated that no matter how high the price would go Wormser would not do anything about it.

This, he said, "seems to negate the warnings."

Stewart Can "Only Infer"

Stewart appeared before the House Commerce Committee today and told its members he couldn't express any opinion on the recent increase in the price of crude oil.

"The industry knows exactly why they do certain things and I can only infer," Stewart said.

Rep. Wolverton (R-NJ), commenting that it was "astounding" that the committee couldn't have the testimony of government experts on the subject, asked "Who makes that policy?"

"I was told that was a position we should take," Stewart replied. "I was told by Secretary Wormser and Secretary Seaton—interior secretary."

Saudi Arabia Will Receive Military Aid

Agreement On All Issues Reported; Talks End Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The deputy foreign minister of Saudi Arabia said tonight after a long conference with Secretary of State Dulles that "we have agreed on everything we have discussed."

His words indicated full understanding has been reached on such issues as continued American use of the Dhahran air base and a military aid program for Saudi Arabia.

Shaikh Yusuf Yasin, the deputy foreign minister, Finance Minister Shaikh Mohammad Surur and Ambassador Shaikh Abdullah Al-Khayyal conferred with Dulles and other officials for about 3¼ hours.

Saud, Ike To End Talks

Tomorrow King Saud is scheduled to have the final meeting with President Eisenhower, so the talks which have extended over two weeks are near the end. Yasin said he hopes a communique will be issued tomorrow.

The agreement capped a day marked by several developments affecting the Middle East.

For one thing, the State Department said any new Soviet arms deliveries to Egypt "could be regarded as a violation" of the United Nations ban on such shipments to the Middle East.

Press officer Lincoln White said the department is deeply interested in widespread reports that Russia has sent fresh weapons to Egypt since the end of the fighting there in November.

Other Developments

There were these other developments in Washington today in the Middle East situation:

1. Visiting Crown Prince Abdul Ilah of Iraq went on record with a broad endorsement of American policy in the Middle East, including President Eisenhower's proposals for blocking an expansion of communism there.

2. Visiting King Saud of Saudi Arabia said, "There is no real danger of communism in the Middle East." At the same time he praised Eisenhower's antiaggression program as "a good proposal, worthy of consideration."

Rights Program Critics Stress 'Gestapo' Angle

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP) — Southern witness denounced President Eisenhower's civil rights program today as containing the seed of a "Soviet type gestapo."

Critics from Georgia and Alabama opened such a broadside before a House Judiciary subcommittee that Northern members protested against what they called "inflammatory" statements.

Georgia Official Opens Fire

"Enactment of this legislation," Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook of Georgia said, "would result in creation of a federal gestapo which would hold needless investigations, pry into the affairs of the states and their citizens, and intimidate a majority of our citizens solely to appease the politically powerful minority pressure groups inspired by the Communistic ideologies of the police state."

Rep. Lanham (D-Ga), appearing as a witness against the civil rights legislation, said "Stalin himself could not have conceived" as effective a surrender of local powers as the program would authorize.

Ala. Judge Voices Threat

Alabama Circuit Court Judge C. Wallace of Clayton, Ala., told the subcommittee he was "not going to permit any unlawful interference by the federal police in my district." He said he would "order the arrest of any federal agent" who came into his judicial district and "demanded" the jury list.

Wallace said he was referring to an incident in which he said FBI agents "took over the courthouse" in Cobb County, Ga.

Rep. Keating (R-NY), a subcommittee member, contended the FBI went into Georgia to determine whether Negroes were being systematically excluded from jury duty in a Cobb County rape case.

Fire Damages Church

NORMAN, Okla., Feb. 7 (AP)—Fire early today gutted the $180,000 education wing of the First Presbyterian Church.

Convicts Locked Up After Ending Revolt

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah, Feb. 7 (AP)—Guards armed with riot guns moved into Utah's strife-torn prison today and put under lock and key approximately 500 convicts who surrendered after a 12-hour spree of violence.

The defiant convicts, armed with captured guns, held as many as 27 hostages at one time, and seized most of the prison last night. They held it until shortly before dawn.

They gave up in response to Gov. George D. Clyde's promise of an impartial investigation of 43 grievances.

They released the hostages, turned their arms over to prison authorities and went into their cellblocks. Most spent the day loafing in their cells but they were not locked in.

Late in the afternoon prison officials called over the public address system: "Ring-in; everyone to their cells."

Six minutes later 50 guards entered the cellblocks. One by one they locked the doors on the individual cells without incident.

Dr. Leslie Burbidge, vice chairman of the State Board of Corrections, said only after all cells were locked would the board meet with prisoner representatives to discuss further procedure.

Later in the day Gov. Clyde set up a committee, including the four leaders of the Utah State Legislature, to make a study.

The board of corrections met at the prison during the afternoon but Burbidge said there would be no immediate decision on the prisoners' demands.

The prisoners first insisted that Clyde bargain with them on the grievances as a condition of releasing their 27 hostages, who included members of a church basketball team and several teachers. Clyde, who has been in office only about a month, refused. He told the convicts he wouldn't even consider their complaints until all hostages were freed.

The riot flared up during dinner last night in an argument between a convict and Guard Lt. M. L. Coleman.

As other convicts joined in, Coleman was knifed in the stomach but was dragged out of the prison area which then was sealed off from the administrative section. He was reported in fair condition at a Salt Lake City hospital.

No Direct Price, Pay Curbs Seen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks said today there is "no disposition in this administration" to impose direct controls on prices and wages, and no plans for them are being made.

The secretary told a news conference there is "no essential difference" between his views on the curbing of inflation and those of President Eisenhower.

Yesterday, Eisenhower said the government might have to take stern measures if voluntary restraint fails to stem the rise of prices.

Weeks conceded that "you never can guarantee what you'll do" under future conditions, but said this administration from the start had gone to work removing controls from the economy.

He said he did not believe future price trends would be violently upward, and declared on the subject of wage-price ceilings:

"There are no studies being made, there are no plans being made, there is no disposition in the administration to take that road."

Ike To See Saud, Then Fly To Georgia

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP) — President Eisenhower concludes his conferences with King Saud of Saudia Arabia tomorrow morning, and hopes to leave about noon for a vacation in the South.

The visiting Arabian monarch will call on the President at 10:30 a.m. EST. The assistant White House press secretary, Murray Snyder, said, "I anticipate that there will be a communique" afterward.

Snyder said that depending on the time the conference between the two chiefs of state ends, Eisenhower hopes to take off around noon for Thomasville, Ga. and the plantation of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

"I don't know how long he plans to be there," Snyder said. "I would say about a week."

U.S. Will Open Economic Talks With Poles Soon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP) —The United States announced today it will open negotiations with Communist Poland soon on that country's proposal to borrow American dollars and buy American goods. The idea is to shore up Poland's newly won independence of Russia.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said the Polish government has been invited to hold the economic talks in Washington and has accepted. He thought the negotiations would start soon. Other sources said the United States was ready to begin them early next week.

$100 Million Credit Sought

The Warsaw government hopes to get trade credits here totaling about 100 million dollars at least. It wants these to finance the purchase of urgently needed cotton, modern farm machinery, new mining equipment, fats and oils, chemical fertilizer and grains for cattle food.

Diplomatic officials said the Polish economy, weakened by years of unprofitable goods shipments to Russia, is hard pressed. They said cooperation by the Western powers to expand trade is vitally important to enable the Poles to maintain the independence of Moscow domination which they asserted last October.

Talks Due Next Week

Polish Ambassador Romuald Spasowski was advised by Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy at the State Department yesterday that the United States government was ready for the Polish trade mission to come here.

Murphy suggested early next week as a time to start negotiations. The United States negotiating team, informants said, will be headed by Deputy Asst. Secretary of State Thorsten V. Kalijarvi.

Woman Gets 5 Years For Stealing $72,000

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 7 (AP)—A 40-year-old mother was sentenced to five years in prison today for embezzling $72,000 in bank savings to buy knickknacks from two women whom she "detested."

When she heard the sentence the former bank supervisor, Mrs. Magdalen L. Morenc, collapsed in the arms of her husband, John, a truckline executive.

Her lawyer, James E. Keating, gave no explanation for the strange purchases through 15 years of embezzlement except to say a psychiatrist found Mrs. Morenc had "strong feelings of guilt and insecurity."

Israel Hardens Its Opposition To Withdrawal

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Feb. 7 (AP)—The best information available here is that Israel is intensifying plans to hold on in the Gaza Strip and along the Gulf of Aqaba despite a personal message from President Eisenhower.

All surface indications are that the nation's leaders have not weakened in the slightest, despite pressure from the President and U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. Israel still demands guarantees against renewal of Egyptian aggression before withdrawing from those portions of Egypt her army still holds.

Ike Message Considered

The message from President Eisenhower to Premier David Ben-Gurion was delivered by U.S. Ambassador Edward B. Lawson last Sunday. It was considered at a Cabinet meeting yesterday. It was understood to have supported the U. N. Assembly's sixth demand for Israel's withdrawal from Gaza and the Sharm el Sheikh area guarding the entrace to the Gulf of Aqaba.

But the Cabinet reaffirmed previous decisions not to withdraw its troops unless it obtains guarantees that Egypt will not stop Israeli shipping in the gulf and will not base commando raiders in the strip.

Eisenhower Hopeful

The President, at a news conference yesterday, said he believed Israel had a "decent respect for the opinion of mankind" and would withdraw her forces. But he did not commit the United States in advance to support economic or other penalties, which Arab delegates are urging in the United Nations if Israel refuses to withdraw. He said the United States was aware of Israel's rights in the dispute.

CWU Pays $315,000

ATLANTA, Feb. 7 (AP)—Southern Bell Telephone Co. has received a cash settlement of $315,000 from the Communications Workers of America for physical damage to the company's facilities during the 68-day 1955 strike, it was announced today.

Soviet Would Resume Disarmament Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—The Soviet Union agreed today to resume disarmament talks in London March 11, but suggested that the meeting be at the foreign ministers level.

The Soviet position was stated in a letter which Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov handed to Cmdr. Allan Noble, British minister of state, who had proposed that the talks be held in London.

The meeting would be in accordance with a recommendation adopted unanimously by the General Assembly last month, calling for new discussions by the five-nation U. N. Disarmament subcommittee. This body consists of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada.

India Obtains Loan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—India today obtained from the International Monetary Fund a 200-million-dollar loan agreement.

Marines Probe Abuse Charges

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., Feb. 7 (AP)—Authorities at the Parris Island Marine Recruit Depot said today an investigation has been launched into charges that several recruits were mistreated by drill instructors.

A Marine spokesman said a preliminary inquiry began about four weeks ago after the base commander, Gen. Homer L. Litzenberg, received a letter citing possible mistreatment.

The letter writer was not officially identified, but at Hartford, Vt., the mother of a Marine private said today, "I'm sorry we're the ones to be the cause of all this."

The mother of 18-year-old Pvt. David Lee Porter said the boy's father had written officers at Parris Island, quoting his son as saying he had been struck with an iron bar and was "forced to march with sand in his mouth."

However, the basic public information officer, Capt. James F. Mahoney, said the preliminary probe had revealed "nothing beyond the use of the hands" by two drill instructors.

The father, Nelson R. Porter, was reported to have left home yesterday for Parris Island at his son's request.

Vessels Collide In Chesapeake Bay

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7 (AP) — Two vessels collided in a dense fog in Chesapeake Bay tonight just north of the bay bridge and the Coast Guard said it was sending tugs to their aid.

The Coast Guard said the Mexico Maru and the African Crescent collided off Baltimore Light at the mouth of the Magothy River about six miles north of the bridge and about 18 south of Baltimore Harbor.

The Mexico Maru was struck in the stern and her steering and engines were disabled.

Visibility was less than half a mile at the time of the collision about 9:15 p.m., the Coast Guard said.

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (AP) — Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner at London, is expected to become ambassador to Washington shortly.

Belle Livingstone, Speakeasy Queen Of Twenties, Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP) — Belle Livingstone died today. She was the last of New York's famed speakeasy queens of the Roaring Twenties and her passing recalled an incredible era.

At 92, she was old, broke, infirm and all but forgotten. Her heart had bothered her for years and it finally gave out. She was in a nursing home, a place of final refuge for a woman who once was mistress of a lavish French chateau.

First an actress and toast of two continents, Miss Livingstone later became a naughty, picturesque symbol of New York night life, the friendly rival of her deceased contemporaries, Texas Guinan and piano-perching Helen Morgan, the singer.

Marilyn "Dangerous"; Iraq Bans "Bus Stop"

BAGHDAD, Feb. 7 (AP)—Iraq has banned the movie "Bus Stop" because "Marilyn Monroe is dangerous to teen-agers and youths."

Monroe films have been shown here before but "none of them was as sensational as 'Bus Stop', " the censors said.

New Haiti President

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Feb. 7 (AP)—Franck Sylvain, a lawyer, was named provisional president of Haiti today by a vote of 23-16 in the Legislature.

He succeeds Joseph Nemours Pierre - Louis, who was forced from the office Sunday by a general strike.

Russia Admits Missing Swedish Diplomat Dead

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 7 (AP) — The Soviet government cleared up a major mystery today by acknowledging that missing Swedish diplomat Raoul Wallenberg died at Soviet secret police headquarters in Moscow 10 years ago.

The Russian admission — with a belated expression of regret — came after 12 years of straight-faced Soviet denials of any knowledge of Wallenberg's fate. It cast blame for the cover-up on a former Stalin police official, now dead.

The diplomat disappeared after arrest by the Soviets in January 1945 in Budapest where he played a role of rescuing angel for about 20,000 Hungarian Jews during Nazi occupation of that city. He provided the Jews with special documents which enabled them to escape extermination in Nazi death camps.

The Wallenberg case has been one of the most irritating postwar issues between Sweden and the Soviet Union. Since 1952 the Swedish government has directed 49 inquiries to the Kremlin about the missing man.

A Soviet note to the Swedish government today said Wallenberg died "suddenly in the night in his cell" — in Lyubanka prison which houses Soviet police headquarters. Death "presumably" was from a heart attack — a myocardiac thrombosis — it added, and occurred on July 17, 1947. At that time he was 36 years old.

The communications charged that Victor S. Abakumov, executed former Soviet minister of state security, had kept Wallenberg in jail and had lied to the Soviet government about the case.

Newsman Ordered Back To U.S. May Ask Hearing

BUDAPEST, Feb. 7 (AP)—Reporter William Worthy said today he may ask the State Department for an open formal hearing here in Hungary on the Washington directive that he must return to the United States.

He is one of three American newsmen who defied a department ban to visit Red China.

Worthy, 35, represents the Baltimore Afro-American and also works for the New York Post and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

He said a hearing was one of four possibilities offered him by U. S. Vice Consul Richard R. Shelby Jr.

Shelby told him, he said, that instructions from Washington were to take Worthy's passport and stamp it valid only for return to the United States.

Worthy was planning to go home soon in any case, because his passport expires March 4.

Shelby suggested, Worthy continued, that he might:

1. Just hand over the passport.
2. Hand it over with a written protest.
3. Ask for a hearing either in Budapest or in Washington.
4. Simply refuse to have anything to do with the U.S. legation in Budapest.

(In New York, Look magazine said it already has requested a hearing on the State Department's move to revoke the passport of its correspondent Edmund Stevens, who also went to Red China. Stevens was accompanied in Red China by photographer Philip Harrington, but no action has been taken against Harrington since he returned to New York last week.)

Disruption Of Ventilation Indicated In Mine Blast

BISHOP, Va., Feb. 7 (AP)—Testimony at a hearing today indicated a disruption of ventilation may have caused accumulation of methane gas in a section of the Bishop coal mine where an explosion killed 37 miners.

Eighteen witnesses, including foremen and workers in the three sections involved in Monday's blast, were heard at the hearing conducted by the West Virginia Department of Mines.

No conclusions were reached by the investigators. Testimony largely revolved around the possibility that ventilation had been disrupted when an air lock—created by two wooden doors used to direct fresh air—was rendered useless by the opening of the doors at the same time.

There was no testimony as to what ignited the gas, actually setting off the explosion at 1:55 a.m. Monday.

All newsmen except Dick Mason of the Beckley, W. Va. newspaper, were barred from the hearing until 3 p.m. then all were admitted at the direction of Gov. Cecil Underwood of West Virginia.

Grinning Ike Given Presents By Scouts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Boy Scouts bearing presents for the President got a delighted reception today at the White house from the honorary head of the organization, President Eisenhower.

A dozen Explorers, all Eagle Scouts, representing the nation's 12 Boy Scout regions, came in to present a maroon leather annual report listing 1956 achievements and 1957 goals.

Eisenhower walked out and sat down among the lads. And he was grinning and exclaiming like a kid at Christmas as they also handed him the 15-millionth copy of the Scout Handbook, blankets for himself and Mrs. Eisenhower, a box of red roses for the First Lady and a pedometer for himself.

"Maybe this will make me stay out of my golf cart," Eisenhower remarked after he unwrapped the device which measures the distance a walker covers.

Union Contempt Cases Pressed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Four Teamsters Union officials who defied a Senate inquiry group were cited for contempt of Congress today by the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The committee voted 12-0 in favor of prosecuting Einar O. Mohn, executive vice president of the big head of the Teamsters' 11-state Western Conference; Nugent Lapoma, secretary - treasurer of Local 174 in Seattle; and Harry Reiss, secretary - treasurer of Local 284 in New York.

The vote was taken behind closed doors and reported by Chairman McClellan (D-Ark). It followed similar action taken by the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

If the Senate accepts the parent committee's recommendation the contempt cases will be sent to the Justice Department for further proceedings. Conviction for contempt of Congress carries maximum penalties of a year in jail, a $1,000 fine or both.

The labor leaders refused to answer questions or turn over subpoenaed union documents when summoned before the subcommittee last month. The subcommittee was looking into alleged labor racketeering.

Giant Airliner In Crash-Landing

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 7 (AP)—A giant airliner made a muddy crash-landing early today and raised the question whether it had mowed down an iron fence in neighboring Louisiana a few hours earlier.

The 72-passenger Delta-C&S Constellation carrying 33 passengers and a crew of five settled gently onto a Jackson Municipal Airport runway about 4:20 a.m. (CST) after circling the darkened city 1½ hours to get rid of excess fuel.

Passengers said they believed the landing gear may have been damaged when the plane struck a tree top in attempting a landing at fogged-Shreveport, La. a few hours earlier.

Tenn. Senate Favors Male, Female Schools

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 7 (AP)—The Tennessee Senate passed without opposition and sent to the House today a bill authorizing local city and county school boards to establish separate male and female public schools. The vote was 28-0.

Sen. Harlan Dodson of Nashville, author, said it was drawn up as a result of recent investigation of integrated public schools in Washington, D.C. The measure would permit white and Negro boys to attend the same schools and white and Negro girls to go to school together.

Parking Riddle Still Too Tough For Legislators

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (AP) — The House of Delegates played with a riddle today—who owns the parking space around the Statehouse.

Speaker Luber (D-Balto 5th) tossed it to Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert.

The question was posed by Del. Jackson (D-Balto County) to Luber, who has been beset with parking problem for legislators.

There isn't room around the Statehouse, in the first place, if all of the 152 legislators brought their cars. How to reserve what space is there has been a problem for years. Who's going to make the ground rules is another.

Annapolis officials say they will and they are. They have informed legislative leaders that cars bearing the special license tags issued to members of the General Asembly will be allowed to park on the Circle. All others—even if they do belong to legislators—will be given parking tickets.

Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert) and Luber had issued parking stickers of their own — about 300 according to reports.

"As one who has suffered a deluge of parking tickets," Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th) told Luber, "what good are those things you gave out. You told us to put them on our windshields. I'm still getting tickets, in fact I'm told there's one on it right now."

Luber replied that Police Commissioner George W. Rawlings had told him the legislative stickers were to be ignored. "I have no way to tell Rawlings what to do," the speaker said. "He says the Circle belongs to the city."

Red Cross Increases Flood Relief Outlay

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Red Cross today said it is allocating an additional 1½ million dollars for flood relief in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

This raised to two million dollars the amount allocated by the organization for the work. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president, said Red Cross outlays may reach five million dollars.

Smashes Out Of Jail

ROLLA, Mo., Feb. 7 (AP) — A young ex-soldier, Corbin O'Neal, charged with bigamy smashed a hole in the wall of the old, brick county jail and escaped last night.

The alarm was sounded by O'Neal's cellmate, Bob Cline. He climbed through the hole and took a taxi to the home of Deputy Sheriff Zack Maze to tell of the escape. The jail isn't guarded at night.

Judge Declares Mistrial In Case Of Mrs. Burgess

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7 (AP) — The trial of Mrs. Thelma S. Burgess, charged with conspiring and aiding in the slaying of her husband, was brought to an abrupt halt today. The judge called a mistrial because of a headline and photograph in a Baltimore newspaper yesterday.

Chief Judge Emory H. Niles excused the jurors and the trial ended "because of the publication in the Baltimore News-Post, while this trial was proceeding, of a headline and photograph."

"The matter was clearly improper and prejudicial to the principle that defendants in the courts of Maryland are entitled to a fair trial without outside interference or influence," he said.

Judge Niles based his ruling on the headline "Say Widow Planned Burial Prior to Burgess Slaying," and to the photograph which showed Mrs. Burgess beside the grave of her husband during his burial.

He said he had no objection to the story content itself.

State's Atty. J. Harold Grady said a new trial would be rescheduled.

Mrs. Burgess is the fourth person to be tried on charges growing out of the ambush slaying of Leonard Burgess, 36-year-old steamfitter, as he returned from work early last Sept. 29.

The other three are her 15-year-old daughter, Diane, sentenced to 18 years in prison for being an accessory; Joseph Tromberi, 15, Diane's boy friend, convicted of firing the rifle which killed him, 18 years, and Walter Brauer, convicted of supplying the rifle and awaiting sentence.

Mrs. Burgess' trial started yesterday. The State accused her of encouraging the slaying and with feeding Tromberi whisky the night of the shooting. She denied the assertions.

State's 1957 Traffic Death Toll Now 34

WHITE MARSH, Md., Feb. 7 (AP) —A head-on collision on U.S. 40 early today took the life of Robert Hall Smith, 48, who became Maryland's 34th traffic fatality of the year.

The State had 56 highway deaths at this time last year.

Police said the White Marsh man lost control of his car northeast of Baltimore. It careened across the center grass plot and into a truck operated by Donald L. Bucy, 33, of Baltimore. Bucy was treated for cuts on the forehead and bruised ribs.

Extraditions Are Ordered

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin today ordered the extradition of Ernest Leo Boone to face a charge of first degree murder in Daytona Beach, Fla.

Boone, alias Bernard Crowcher, recently was taken into custody by FBI agents in Baltimore. He is charged by Florida authorities with the premeditated murder of Paul J. Kliewer in Daytona Beach last Dec. 23.

At a hearing before Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph D. Buscher, Boone said he was "on a binge" before he turned himself in at Baltimore. He said he signed certain "prefabricated statements under mental duress."

He admitted his identity, however, and said he was in Florida last Dec. 23.

Buscher said that was sufficient evidence to grant Florida's request for extradition. Boone is charged with shooting Kliewer.

The governor also ordered the extradition of Bennie Mack Tilmon, alias Bennie Henry, of Baltimore, on a fugitive warrant from North Carolina.

The Baltimore Negro said he escaped from a road gang in 1949 because "they didn't give me justice in court." He escaped from Columbus County prison camp at Whitesville after serving one year of a 10-year sentence for selling non-taxed whisky and driving a hit-and-run car.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (INS) — One of the features of the Travel-rama show at the New York Coliseum is a little toy black cat named Twinkletoes. The faded bow around its neck once was the proud blue and red of the R.A.F. Twinkletoes is what amounts to the world's first transAtlantic air passenger.

It flew from St. John's, Newfoundland, to a bog in Ireland in June, 1919, a 1,900-mile flight which took just under 16 hours. It was the mascot of Lt. Arthur Whitten Brown, whose partner in that historic first direct flight across the Atlantic was Capt. Jack Alcock.

Twinkletoes was unearthed from a dusty trunk by Lady Whitten Brown not long ago and flown to this country in a Vickers plane powered by Rolls Royce engines —the combination that produced the 1919 event. But the plane of old was a twin-engined biplane with open cockpits and a top speed of 120 mph. Twinkletoes came over this time in a Vickers Viscount—being delivered to Capital Airlines—at 25,000 feet and 350 mph.

The first trip must have been more exciting, even for something made of imitation fur and sawdust.

Alcock and Brown spent much of World War I as prisoners of war, the former having been shot down in Turkey, the latter in Germany. Each was fired with a single ambition: To find when the war was ended and they were released, a plane in which they could fly the Atlantic. Lord Northcliffe had put up a 10,000 pound prize for such a feat.

Fate brought the two together at the Vickers factory early in 1919. They were selected as the company's crew in what was a lively race to be the first. Handley-Page had entered a big 4-engined biplane bomber with a crew of six, headed by an admiral. Sopwith put in a single-engined plane and hired the great British ace, Harry Hawker, as pilot. There were half a dozen other hopefuls, and all in time gathered in Newfoundland.

Fields had to be scraped level and packed, to support the planes. The weather had to be waited on. With four planes on hand and ready, there was actually a 2-month delay because of weather.

Hawker was fir t off. Fifteen hours, after traveling 1,100 miles, his engine's cooling system flew apart. Incredibly, it happened just as he passed over a small tramp steamer. Hawker ditched the plane and he and his navigator were taken aboard. It took the ship six more days to reach land—during which time the men were considered dead, for the ship had no wireless.

Alcock and Brown lurched into the air from a runway on which a rival plane had only recently cracked up on takeoff. For a time it appeared that they, too, must crash. But the Rolls Royces overcame the pull of gravity and they were off. Twinkletoes bobbled up and down on top the instrument panel.

It was not what might be called an uneventful flight. Part of one engine flew away, but kept functioning. The generator for their radio was torn off in the windstream. A violent storm spun the plane out of control and it fell, like a crazed rock from 4,000 feet. Alcock could not gain control of it until it was within 60 feet of the water. The spray washed the wings.

Five times during the crossing, Brown climbed out on the wing to chip ice away from the engines' air intakes, holding on to a strut with one hand, his body only inches from the propellor, the flaming exhaust inches over his head, the Atlantic 9,000 feet below.

But they made it and the world echoed acclaim. George V knighted them and they became wealthy men. But Alcock was to die before the year was ended. He hit a tree in France, looking for a familiar road. Brown became more and more of a recluse, especially after he lost his son in the Battle of Arnheim. He put away the mementos of a dashing youth, among them the now resurrected—and saucy as ever—Twinkletoes.

Plaintiff Receives Verdict Of $300

The plaintiff in a suit heard in Allegany County Circuit Court Tuesday was awarded $300 by the jury.

Chief Judge George Henderson presided. Edna G. Root, city, originally sued Anthony Matese, individually and trading as St. Cloud Motors, Frostburg, for $500 for not having the services of her car for a four-month period.

According to testimony Mrs. Root purchased a car from the Frostburg concern and later the brakes became defective. It took about three and a half months to get replacement parts since they had to be obtained from England, where the car was assembled.

Following the verdict, Milton Gerson, who represented the defendant, filed a motion for a new trial. John M. Robb represented the plaintiff.

12 Members Served In Congress Over 40 Years

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Considering the hazards, politicians are a surprisingly durable lot.

Despite election upsets and-or old age, 12 Congress members have managed to hang on for 40 years or more. Three of these are still in Congress, with a fair chance of setting a record.

These durable legislators are:

Sen. Carl Hayden (D), the pride of Hayden's Ferry—now Tempe—Ariz. Has represented Arizona, first in the House and then in the Senate, ever since it became a state. Has 45 years in Congress. Only two men have served longer.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D), of Bonham, Tex. Only three men have served more time than Rayburn's 43 years and 10 months, and no man has put in as many years as Rayburn in the speaker's chair. Elected speaker on Sept. 16, 1940, and except for a couple of interruptions when the Republicans controlled the House, has been speaker ever since.

Rep. Carl Vinson (D) of Milledgeville, Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee. Has racked up 42 years, 2 months in Congress, to become the eighth-ranking man of all time in point of service.

Since none of these shows any signs of weakening, and since all are young squirts in their 70s, the record set by Rep. Joseph Guerney Cannon of Illinois — better known as Uncle Joe — is in danger. In three different hitches, Cannon put in 46 years in the House, and was its speaker for eight years.

Cannon's record had a close call in 1952. Rep. Adolph Sabath (D-Ill) was only four months away from the mark when he died. And in some ways Sabath's career was the more remarkable. For Sabath, an immigrant from Czechoslovakia, first was elected to Congress in 1906.

He then was re-elected 22 times, a record for faithfulness that's hard to beat.

All these statistics have been gathered by Svend Peterson, who works for Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo) and who makes a hobby of U. S. political history.

Of the thousands who have served in Congress — the "American Biography of the American Congress" has sketches on 9,950 members, past and present—Peterson figures 78 men and one woman have served 30 years or more.

The woman, of course, is Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R) of Lowell, Mass., still going strong after 31 years.

Many of the long-timers have served both in the House and Senate, but the record of Sen. Matthew Neely (D-WVa) is worth a special look.

For Neely is piling up his 33 years in Congress the hard way. He started in the House, then went to the Senate, then back to the House, and now he's in the Senate again. Along the way he had time out to be governor of West Virginia.

No one seems to know who holds the record for long-time service in an elected legislative body, but William Gladstone, the British parliamentary leader, didn't do so badly.

He served 60 years.

Complaints Justified

BUDAPEST, Feb. 7 (AP)—Hungarian patron complaints sent Red police on the rounds of 180 Budapest bars to learn why the kick had gone from some old familiar bottles.

The cops found 8 of the first 26 wines tested had been watered and 24 liquors showed less than guaranteed alcoholic content.

Legal action follows, the cops promise.

Press Circulation Reaches New High

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—Newspapers in the United States had their greatest circulation last year with 57 million copies sold daily—almost a million increase over the year before.

This is roughly one newspaper for every three U.S. inhabitants.

Sunday circulation also set a record of 47 million, according to figures released today by Editor and Publisher.

The trade magazine reported the dailies' circulation gain was 1.7 per cent over 1955.

India ink is so called because it reached Europe by way of India. Nevertheless, it was invented in China.

Records Broken By Drone Plane

BALTIMORE, Feb. 7 (AP) — A drone target plane, under remote control for 1 hour, 44½ minutes has been flown to 53,000 feet for an unofficial endurance and altitude record, the Air Force said today.

Ryan Aeronautical Co., which joined the Air Research and Development Command in announcing the record flight, developed the improved "Firebee" jet drone and the autopilot used in the 10-mile-high experiment.

The ARDC said the XQ2B experimental Firebee set what are believed to be worlds records in altitude and duration for drone missiles specifically designed as targets.

After 97 minutes of powered flight, the Firebee was remote controlled for a 7½-minute powerless glide before its parachute was released, lowering it safely to the desert floor.

In colonial days in Boston, a candidate for governor of Massachusetts had to be a "Christian worth 1,000 pounds."

The most common cause of fire is the carelessness of smokers.

Residents of the Romney area will be serviced every Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Court House annex. Wardensville will be visited every other Thursday at 1 p. m. at the War Memorial Building.

Oakland area residents will be given service every Tuesday at 1 p. m. at the State Employment Office. A representative will visit Piedmont every Friday at 1 p. m. at the Moose Hall.

Robertson said the following changes in the Social Security Act have resulted in the large increase in number of claimants:

If you are disabled now or if you should become disabled in the future, you may be eligible for disability insurance payments after June 1957, if you are 50 years of age or older, have had enough work under the Social Security law, and are so severely disabled you are unable to do any substantial work. If you believe that you many be eligible for disability insurance benefits, but have not previously applied, you should get in touch with the representative when he is in your community.

If you are a working woman, or wife of a man who is getting Social Security retirement pay, you may get monthly benefits when you reach 62, if you wish, instead of having to wait until you reach 65. However, if you choose to take the payments before you reach 65, the amount of the monthly benefit you will receive will be permanently reduced. The amount of the reduction depends on the number of months it will be after you start getting benefits before you reach 65. If your husband dies, you may become entitled to Social Security payments as a widow when you reach 62, and your benefits will not be reduced.

If you are self employed in your own business and have had net earnings of at least $400 a year in the past two years, and are 65 years of age or older (62 years of age or older for women) you may be eligible for old age insurance benefits immediately. When contacting your Social Security representative you should bring copies of your 1955 and 1956 income tax returns, some evidence to show the self employment tax has been paid, some evidence of your age, and some evidence of your wife's or husband's age, if they too, wish to file.

Railway Held Carrier Of Jap Beetles

A new note has been injected into the usual type complaint against the B&O Railroad Company.

On occasion the railroad is the target of "brick bats" for blocking crossings, loud whistle tooting and horn blowing and in the recent past for cinder and smoke pollution in residential areas.

Now the West Virginia Department of Agriculture in a release on the inroads made by Japanese beetles in the Mountaineer State infer that the beetles have been "passengers" on B&O trains in the area between Parkersburg, Clarksburg, Fairmont and Morgantown.

F. Waldo Craig, entomologist for the West Virginia Department of Agriculture, said the beetles have been popping up for the past two years along the B&O right-of-way in the area mentioned. Craig said commercial airlines also apparently have helped the beetle to spread out.

The department's program this year will include spraying of airports at Wheeling Martinsburg, Clarksburg and elsewhere in the state where air fields are located.

The beetle, which made its first appearance in West Virginia 25 years ago, now is generally established in 16 counties and strong in areas of 12 others.

There are only seven counties in which outbreaks have not been found. In that group are Putnam, Lincoln, Boone, Pocahontas, Nicholas and Wayne. Small colonies have been found in the state's other 20 counties.

Consistent spraying of Eastern Panhandle fruit orchards has slowed the beetle's advance in such counties as Berkeley and Jefferson. But the pest has spread out into other sections, sometimes following railroad routes.

Opera's Cannon Boom Missing

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 7 (AP) — Opera lovers accustomed to a big bang will have to settle for a small pop when the Trenton Symphony presents Puccini's opera Tosca, Feb. 12.

Maestro Guglielmo Sabatini has scoured the state in vain for a cannon to boom in the first act announcing the escape of Angelotti from prison. All possible operatic cannon at Fort Dix are "landmarks", the Army said, while the Trenton Army Reserve's only suitable weapon is too big to move.

So Fort Dix has offered a military policeman as a stand-in for the cannon. He will fire a .38-calibre revolver into a large bucket.

Still needed is a fully armed firing squad to execute Cavaradossi in the last act. Prior stage experience is not required, says orchestra secretary Emily Okun.

Honor Society Chapter To Induct 13

This morning at 9:45 in the school auditorium, the Fort Hill Chapter of the National Honor Society will induct into membership 13 seniors. This induction will mark the silver anniversary of the chapter. National Honor Society alumni members have been invited to attend.

The cardinal principles of the organization will be explained in four scenes by Calvin Kiiffner, president; Harold Ross, vice president; Nancy Curry, secretary; Terry Weltman, treasurer; Sharon Baldwin, JoAnn Savilisky, and Wayne Martz.

Featured on the program will be a memorial service conducted by Harry W. Amtower, charter member, and a speech by Victor D. Heisey, principal and founder of the Fort Hill Chapter.

The inductees are Betty Broadstock, Lawrence Cessna, Rosemary Elkins, Darrell Henry, Donna Nield, Carol Parker, Sandra Robinette, Wanda Robinson, Harold Schriver, Delores Struckman, Wanda Tate, Sterley Van Pelt, and Nancy Welsh.

During the ceremony, Robert Sites, violinist, will play "Rondino" by Fritz Kreisler and "Perpetual Motion" by J. W. Jacobs; Barbara Lippold will sing the "Lord's Prayer" by Mellot, and the Harmonettes will sing "Bless This House." Accompanist is Judy Kompanek.

In charge of lights and incidental staging are Richard Phillips, Louis Saylor, and Leroy Blubaugh.

Assisting Miss Gerardine Pritchard, in charge of the induction, are Miss Annetta Yates, Lee Alexander, Mrs. Simeon Wilson, Allan Weatherholt, and Thomas Murphy.

Members of the Fort Hill National Honor Society Advisory Council are Miss Christine Alderton, Miss Mary Calemine, Mrs. Ada Hughes, Miss Edwena Kraus, Robert Price and Miss Pritchard, chairman.

Besides Amtower, other alumni members assisting with this event are Miss Alderton, class of '44, and Mrs. Mary Louise Beeche Grimm, class of '36.

The Harmonettes are Ellen Johnson, Nancy Brill, Gertrude Berry, Vera McKenzie, Connie Sanson, and Eleanor Nelson. Organ music will be played by Brenda Waite. Ushers are directed by David La Fon and Rosalie Pfeiffer.

Reds Loosen Grip On Polish Military

WARSAW, Feb. 7 (AP) — Wladyslaw Gomulka's United Workers (Communist) party has loosened its grip on Poland's armed forces.

The party's secretariat decreed that party organizations have no right to control the actions of army commands or to pass resolutions on the command of the forces.

Cultural, social and sporting activities henceforth will be controlled by soldiers' councils.

After dissolution of the Communist Union of Polish Youth, which played a key role in party control over the armed forces, youth organizations in the armed forces will be abolished.

And he and you both will profit by getting to know each other as you help him earn the prize he wants.

How to collect your Good Luck Clovers. You'll see a big green Clover on the front of every package of Good Luck Margarine. Cut out this Clover and give it to your newspaperboy. If you use family style Good Luck, give him the whole wrapper. And, of course, give him as many as you can during the next 8 weeks, because the more Clovers he gets, the bigger the prize he earns.

In addition to a college scholarship awarded in each contest area there are 52 other valuable prizes. But the contest lasts only 8 weeks, and that means he's got to work fast. So start saving your Good Luck Clovers right away!

You and your family will love Good Luck Margarine. Good Luck, you see, is made to taste fresher. In fact, Good Luck Margarine tastes as fresh as "you-know-what."

Try Good Luck at your home for a week. If you or your family can tell Good Luck from the expensive spread, Lever Brothers will pay you the price of a pound of Good Luck. So get Good Luck Margarine the next time you shop.

rest of the committee agree—that the word was not intended to convey any impression of wrong-doing," said Turnbull. "I think it was just an unfortunate choice of words".

Matter Of Policy

Due said that, besides the question of whether the manner in which the contract was awarded was good policy, there was the question of validity, based on Blake's proposal of more than one subcontractor on some phases of the job.

The general practice, he said, is for a contractor to designate one subcontractor for each phase. If more than one is designated, it was explained, the successful bidder can "play these subcontractors off against each other" to get a lower price on the subcontracted work.

At Turnbull's request, Due agreed to give the committee a written report on how he believes the law on State contract awards should be changed. The attorney said it would be ready within a week.

The Senate committee hearing lasted only about 20 minutes but was one of the highlights of a legislative day devoted largely to action on local bills.

The Senate approved and sent to the House a resolution which would direct the State Roads Commission to review and revise toll charges on the State's bridges and the Baltimore Harbor tunnel now under construction. Eastern Shore legislators especially feel tolls on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge are too high.

The House enacted a bill to pave the way for setting up county prison farms.

Insurance Taxes Penalize Thrifty

Life insurance attracts different patrons for different reasons, but whether bought as protection for family, to take care of future education costs, to provide for retirement, or what have you, the basic motive is thrift.

For this reason it is understandable that many policyholders—and insurance companies—are disturbed by the rising slice taxed from insurance company earnings in recent years by levies at various levels of government—federal, state and local. According to the Institute of Life Insurance, taxes paid by the nation's life insurance companies last year totaled more than $500 million. This year these payments are expected to approach $575 million. At present more than $4 of every $100 paid in life insurance premiums go to pay the insurance company's tax bills. In the last 10 years this take has aggregated more than $3 billion.

Every tax dollar reduces the amount of money an insurance company can pay out in benefits. Because of the tax burden policyholders must pay more for the protection they carry than they otherwise would. It seems reasonable to suppose that many persons might carry larger insurance coverage if the rates were lower.

Taxes levied upon insurance companies' earnings may be justified perhaps. But the $500 million take which the government imposes upon such funds seems like a high price to demand for the privilege of saving.

Crises–Comets

Another crisis seems to have passed like a fiery comet across the sky. It looked like war; it passed into discussion and the only casualty was Sir Anthony Eden whose gall bladder kicked up while the crisis was on.

Most of us have been living through such crises most of our adult lives and we are getting used to them. Like in a Western in the movies, you know that whoever rides the white horse is the hero and he will get the girl or at least a kiss before the end of the show. The fellow on the black horse is the villain who will come to a sad end. The girl, whether she starts as a waitress in the local boarding house or comes into town to set up a dress-making establishment or to teach school, will end up as the hero's wife sooner or later.

It is just like the fellow who wins the President to his cause getting a couple of hundred million dollars for this or that, just to show his folks back home that he stands in right, that is to the tune of as many hundreds of millions of dollars that it is possible to take out of the earnings of the American taxpayer to bring about a greater equality among peoples.

It is not only the United States that is expected to put up plenty of its taxpayers' money to offset the crises as they occur, but Soviet Russia now finds herself in the same fix. Soviet Russia, having grown rich through revolution, wars and Five Year Plans, is asked to put up plenty of arms and munitions so that the various neutrals will remain neutral.

There used to be a saying in old China that a judge is most honest when he accepts an equal bribe from both sides. The same definition might be applied to a neutral. If the United States and Soviet Russia ever entered into a compact to stop bribing neutrals, and lived up to it, the human race might be spared a few crises and also the agony of excessive politics and high taxes.

I note an advertisement, full page, no less, signed by Francis W. H. Adams, Cass Canfield, William C. Chanler, Charles F. Darlington, William H. Davis, Angier Biddle Duke, Morris Ernst, Isidor Lipschutz, Allan Nevins and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, often signers of public statements.

This advertisement is designed to influence public opinion to get the Government of the United States to stop testing hydrogen bombs. Part of the advertisement is in the question and answer form and of it I want to quote one:

"Q.: Could we trust the Russians to keep an Agreement on H-Bomb Testing?

"A: We cannot be sure. The Russians have said that they are willing to forego such tests provided other countries agree to do the same. "If Russia broke her promise, she would be dramatically exposed as a country bent on aggression. She would be unmasked before small countries and large, before the neutral or borderline countries who may today believe in her peaceful intentions. And she would almost have issued an invitation for her own ostracism—her quarantine from the world community.

"Russia might break her pledge. But the price she would pay would be terribly high."

Oh, dear! Oh, dear! After Hungary and Poland does anybody believe that Soviet Russia is worried about the opinion of others? There are some who believe that the Soviet Universal State, from East Germany to the Pacific, from the Arctic Tundra to the Indian Ocean, containing 800,000,000 or 900,000,000 human beings, can still be quarantined from the world community.

How? By a United Nations resolution? Perhaps such a resolution would be as effective as the United Nations' attempt to send Dag Hammarskjold into Hungary to see what he could see. So Dag Hammarskjold remained in New York and concerned himself with getting Israel out of Gaza.

The facts simply do not add up to the expectation that Soviet Russia has any respect for the opinions of others, particularly those who do not belong to the reconstituted Comintern which apparently Chou En-lai was able to resurrect.

It is delightful to know that there are such gentle and hopeful people left on this Earth, but the course of history at this moment is for a tougher breed who create crises to get a bribe.

Must Be Something Going On

Fate Of Overcharge Case Against Oil Firms Surrounded By Secrecy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—There is good reason for U. S. Government interest in Saudi Arabia. With American oil reserves limited, Saudi Arabia represents the richest remaining oilfield in the world — though the areas around it, largely developed by the British, are also important.

However, the importance of this oilfield is no justification, in the opinion of many Senators, for permitting the oil companies holding this area to get away with overcharging the U. S. Navy, with violation of the anti-trust for permitting them to dictate the Near Eas policy of the United States.

As reported in an earlier column, the Arabian-American Oil Company was sued by the Justice Department for $67,000,000 for overcharging the U. S. Government. If you inquire at the Justice Department as to what has happened to this suit, however, you will draw a blank. One whole day of inquiry at the Justice Department by this column failed to get any information on the status of the suit, whether it still existed, or, if not, whether it was ever settled.

At the time the overcharge was reported by a Republican-dominated Senate Investigating Committee, Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine, its chairman, charged a criminal conspiracy against the oil companies in the Aramco combine. However, the then Democratic-controlled Justice Department under Attorney General James McGranery let the statute of limitations run until it was too late to bring a criminal case. A civil suit to collect the overcharge was finally filed.

Big Oil Contributors

The heads of some of the companies which now own Aramco were honored guests last week at the state dinner given by President Eisenhower for King Saud. They were: Fred A. Davies, chairman of Aramco; Brewster Jennings, chairman of Socony Mobil, who with his family contributed $7,000 to the Eisenhower campaign; Augustus C. Long, chairman of Texaco; Monroe J. Rathbone, president of Standard of New Jersey, who contributed $1,000.

The manner in which Aramco's overcharge was made against the U. S. Government is interesting.

The Navy's contract for Arabian oil was signed in June 1945 after the war in Europe had ended and when the Navy was getting ready for the big push against Japan. It was considered cheaper to pick up the oil in the Near East, thus saving a haul halfway around the world.

The two Naval officers who signed the contract were Lt. John Walsh, later with Standard of N. J.; and Lt. D. E. Bodenschatz, later with General Petroleum.

When Aramco asked a price of six cents a gallon for gasoline, $1.05 a barrel for fuel oil, and $1.68 a barrel for diesel oil, the two lieutenants balked. In 1941, James Moffett, formerly of Standard of N. J., then representing Aramco, had written a letter to the Navy offering gas at three cents a gallon, fuel oil at 40 cents a barrel, and diesel oil at 75 cents.

The two Naval officers knew that the prices asked by Aramco were identical with the prices quoted at the Gulf of Mexico. In other words, Aramco refused to give the Navy any reduction for picking up the oil in the Near East instead of hauling it halfway around the world from Texas. Nor was the Navy to get any reduction as promised by Aramco in 1941 in return for loans and lend-lease advanced to King Ibn Aaud in lieu of increased oil royalties.

Naval Officers Overruled

So the two young Naval officers refused to accept the higher prices. The negotiations dragged. Handling the negotiations for Aramco were H. G. Denham and C. W. Barthelmes.

Later Barthelmes, no longer with Aramco, informed this writer that he considered the price asked by his company far out of line, even disregarding the loans and grants to King Ibn Saud.

"The Government paid the Arabian-American Oil Company a sum in excess of $33,000,000," Barthelmes said, "resulting in an estimated profit to the company over and above production, royalty, and manufacturing costs of approximately $15,500,000."

He said he had had a chance to look at the cost of production figures and had reason to know what he was talking about.

Despite this, higher-ups in the Navy overruled the two lieutenants and signed a contract with Aramco for high-cost oil and gasoline. When Barthelmes was asked by this writer why the Navy had signed, he said he only knew Lts. Walsh and Bodenschatz complained that someone had gone over their heads. Lt Walsh, when questioned by this writer, said he had vigorously opposed the contract, but superiors had reversed him. He did not name the superiors.

One superior at that time was Adm. Andrew F. Carter, executive officer of the Army-Navy Petroleum Board, a former oilman, who after the war went to work for the Overseas Tank Corp., a subsidiary of then two chief owners of Aramco — Standard of California and Texas.

The Navy, when questioned, claimed that Adm. A. F. Carter had nothing to do with purchasing oil supplies. His brother, Adm. William J. Carter, chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, was in charge of buying oil.

Poor Quality Oil

At any rate, the oil was bought and purchases continued despite Report No. 3771 of the U. S. Naval Boiler Testing Laboratory made Sept. 6, 1946, regarding Arabian oil, which stated: "It is concluded that the samples described herein constitute comparatively high paraffinic products which paraffinicity imparted adverse pour and incompatibility qualities thereto."

This was the basis of the Justice Department's civil suit to recover $67,000,000 from the Arabian-American Oil Company, whose executives and parent board chairman were entertained by President Eisenhower in honor of King Saud at dinner last week.

Note — The Roosevelt administration advanced $99,000,000 in loans or grants to King Ibn Saud during the war, much of it at the behest of the oil companies, according to the official report of the GOP-controlled Senate Investigating Committee. The House Small Business Committee reports that the profits of the companies involved in Aramco have increased 37 per cent during the first three years of the Eisenhower administration.

Campaign Spending And Constitutional Rights

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 — There's nothing in the Constitution which says a person cannot spend as much of his own money as he pleases to persuade other persons to vote for a particular candidate for public office.

In these days of solicitude for "civil rights," talk has arisen nevertheless about enacting a new law to limit campaign contributions. It relates to a possible requirement that only limited amounts of money may be placed in a party treasury or in the hands of an organized political committee.

The whole theory behind the Federal Corrupt Practices Act is that organized effort may be regulated only if it be used for some corrupt or illicit purpose. But the courts in the last few years have told the Department of Justice it could not invoke the Federal Corrupt Practices Act to prosecute a labor union in Michigan that was financing a television program on which speakers favorable to its viewpoint appeared during an election campaign.

While it is true, of course, that corporations and unions are by law forbidden to make any campaign contributions, this cannot prevent union members or corporation stockholders from acting as individuals outside the unions or corporations.

Some form of regulation—such as disclosure of funds contributed by anyone—can be valid without in any way altering the right of the individual to give as much money as he pleases to the cause in which he believes. But it is one thing to require publicity for campaign contributions and a different and doubtful procedure to try to limit by law the size of the contribution.

The same Constitution which permits a law to say that a foundation may spend tax-free income derived from philanthropic bequests and use millions of dollars a year to influence public opinion on any cause, ranging from socialism and theoretical Communism to an espousal of the free-enterprise system, can be invoked by any citizen to safeguard his freedom of speech when he spends money as an individual in a political campaign.

If Congress could say, for example, that no more than $500 or $5,000 may be spent to elect a candidate for public office, it could constitutionally say also what sums may be expended by the citizen for any purpose related to the selection of a nominee for office. The citizen might then be forbidden to use his automobile to transport persons to the polls, as this would be a "contribution." He might be prohibited from letting his home be used as a meeting place or from serving any refreshments to his guests if they talked about the current campaign.

The word "contribution" is defined by present law as "anything of value," yet corporate employes and union members continue to draw their regular salaries while spending days at a time at a campaign headquarters or making election speeches. The Supreme Court in 1948, moreover, upheld the right of a union to publish and distribute its own newspaper and insert political messages therein. The court refused to ban this expenditure of funds as illegal. Yet when a corporation publishes a message giving its views on public questions, it is improperly subjected to criticism.

The bill of rights of the Constitution protects freedom of speech. Under it, any man has a right to advocate any cause during or before any campaign. Expenditures may be made by the individual for any purpose except to impinge on the rights of other voters or to participate in any kind of fraud or deception.

It is constitutional to prohibit anyone from attempting to bribe or unduly influence a candidate for public office in order to obtain some personal favor or beneficial action by such individual when elected, but it is hard to see how a citizen who spends his money to help elect someone and doesn't ask a thing for himself can be told he can spend only a specified sum.

Broadly speaking, Congress has the right to control federal elections, though for years there were legal doubts as to whether federal laws could regulate expenditures in primary contests for federal office. But certainly there is no federal right to control the spending of individuals for local purposes—for county or state candidates. How, for instance, can a political committee which is set up to help both state and federal candidates be required to separate exactly how much it is spending for each when it erects a banner or some other big sign on the highway which says merely "Vote Democratic" or Vote Republican"?

The subject of limiting campaign contributions has been up again and again for consideration by Congress. Every now and then—as happened last week — there is issued a report by a Congressional committee pointing with criticism to the large amounts of money contributed to political parties by various individuals and families with wealth. All the money, however, contributed by the very rich is small in proportion to the total sum collected.

The inference that the rich get something out of it that nobody else does, or that there is something wrong with large contributions, is derived from past evidence of alleged irregularities. Congress, of course, can still refuse to admit to membership anyone for whom an excessive amount was spent or anyone who himself has been engaged in wrongful practices to secure an election victory.

To declare, on the other hand, that an individual can be limited in what he contributes when it is spent for a lawful purpose and without any connection with any bribe or improper influence, is to say that the individual can be prevented by law from spending his money for a cause that seems worthy to him. There is nothing in the Constitution which says the citizen can be deprived of such a civil right.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Old Antsworth Eden has the option on becoming an erl or a dook. That's a bit of a kick on a north-bound escalator.

The promotion would entitle Anthony Adverse Eden to ermine coattails, strawberry rashes and to crease his homberg vice versa.

Eden hasn't taken the promotion yet, but he might sometime join the Loyal Opposition. We've always been suspicious as a frostbitten aardvark about this Loyal Opposition business. Does it include Guy Fawkes?

When you're on the other side of a political picket fence you can still play footsies through the palings. King John and the barons played ball at Runnymede around 1200 with John doing most of the fielding. That's how the Magna Carta got up a tree.

Over here Loyal Opposition means a stubborn minority is crumbing up the details. If you don't fish or chop bait you're supposed to go ashore like the Admiral's mother-in-law.

So far as we can figure on our buttonless abacus the Loyal Opposition hollers "Hear, hear," with its ear-trumpets at half-mast. It shouts "Hear, hear," when the Primed Minister advises that increasing the calibre of egg cups will not spur hens to greater efforts.

Loyal opposition should be seen and herded but not counted. It serves to balance the Parliamentary indecision and validate the adjournments.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Come, darling, and give me sweet kisses,
For sweeter sure never girl gave
But why in the midst of my blisses
Do you ask how many I'd have?
Go number the stars in the heaven,
Count how many sands on the shore
When so many kisses you've given
I still shall be craving for more.
Charles Hanbury Williams

No one can rightly say that the British statesman Sir Anthony Eden is not familiar with the horrors of war. In World War I, two of his brothers were killed in action. One of these brothers, William, was only 16 years old Anthony, himself, went to war when 17 years old and was gassed at Ypres. At the age of 21 he was a captain.

HORSES AND WOMEN

At hand is a communication from a group of feminine subscribers born under Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). It is signed "Forgotten Women" and constitutes a complaint that their sign has been "totally ignored" in our reports as to the claims of the stargazers. These ladies seem really bitter. They threaten me. Not to slap my face but when anybody mentions my name, to reply, "Never heard of him." Truly a diabolical scheme. Only a Capricorn woman could think of it. How right Beaumont was when he wrote:

The fool that willingly provokes a woman,
Has made himself another evil angel,
And a new hell, to which all other torments
Are but mere pastime.

It is one of my favorite songs. Your query has started me humming it.

ASIDES

It was Cardinal O'Connell, who so rightly observed, "You can tell the quantity of a woman's brain by the kind of hat that covers it". . . Now that winter is here some sportscribes are referring to ice hockey as "the world's fastest game." That's ridiculous. The world's fastest game is jai-alai.

On Marriage, Golf, Bowling And Hearing Aids

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A bachelor from Palmer, Mich., writes: "You say that married men live longer. As a hearse driver and a single man, I wonder. Ever think of all the single men who eat a woman's cooking — mother's or a married sisters? This means that we eat as well as husbands do, so why don't we live as long or longer?"

There is more to longevity than home cooking. The single man may be smarter but he lives a less regular life. In addition, males who are in poor health prior to age 25 are less inclined to marry.

From Wilmette, Ill., comes a note which shows exercise won't shorten your life. "You were asked recently if a man of 58 should take walks. This amused me because I'm 97 and my grandson and I played 18 holes of golf this afternoon."

A New Yorker writes: "I have an old friend whose acquaintance began in 1888. He is now 90 and is still a good dancer and bowls once a week at lunch time. But I noticed about a year ago he was getting to be an old man. Why? Because he will not wear a hearing aid."

Your friend represents an old problem to the manufacturers of hearing aids. For years, loss of hearing after age 50 was regarded as a sign of aging, and so was the use of a hearing aid. Your chum is showing false pride by refusing to wear one. But not everyone can benefit from the device, and some are annoyed by it. If your friend delves into this subject he might like the newer types that fit into glasses, for example. They are inconspicuous and provide hearing for both ears.

"I am a young mother of one child, and every time she cries I'm scared. Her skin turns purple in a matter of seconds," writes Mrs. H. Many parents worry about this change in color but there is no need for alarm. During the first few seconds after the baby starts to cry, breathing is interrupted just long enough to deplete the oxygen supply of the blood flowing through the skin.

As a result, the natural pink turns to purple. This does not occur in older children because the circulation is less sluggish than in infants. This mottled or marble-like appearance of the skin that follows exposure to cold is another example of poor circulation. After this woman has her second or third child, little things like this won't bother her.

TOMORROW. A squeaky voice.

HEAD TO CHEST

Mrs. D. writes: How can I prevent my young son's head colds from going to his chest?

REPLY

There is no guaranteed method. The best plan is to treat the head cold as soon as it develops. This may require bed rest and sprays or nosedrops to relieve nasal congestion and encourage drainage. In some instances, an antibiotic may be needed. .

CLASSICAL GOUT PICTURE

M. T. writes: Should a gouty foot be bandaged as you see in the movies? During an attack, I can't stand anything on the inflamed big toe—not even a sheet or a breeze.

REPLY

No a bandage may be used to protect against injury but is unnecessary. The classical picture of the heavily bandaged foot is the cartoonist's way of showing involvement of the toe.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A distinguished array of dinner guests smacked their lips when Mrs. Johnson's maid entered the dining room, bearing a magnificent, golden brown turkey on a large platter.

Then, alas, the maid slipped and fell flat on her face, while the turkey skidded across the floor.

That's when Mrs. Johnson gave an exhibition of her superb tact and imperturbability. "Never mind, Mary," she soothed. "Just take this turkey back to the kitchen and bring in the other one."

The proprietor of a bar and grill has come up with the most disheartening example yet of a man with a split personality: On the one hand, this poor fellow loves scotch, rye, gin, and, above all, a round or two with friends before going home to the little woman. His other personality, however, loathes salted peanuts, potato chips, and pretzels.

16 Amendments Are Made To W.Va. Civil Service Bill

House Excludes State Police

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 7 The Senate-approved civil service bill was moved up for almost certain passage in the House tomorrow after adoption of 16 amendments today.

The bill if approved will go back to the Senate for action on the House amendments.

All 16 amendments were offered by Majority Leader Myles (D-Fayette) and were adopted on a straight party division, Democrats for, and Republicans against. For the most part, the amendments simply make the Senate-passed bill conform with the House version, further down on the House calendar.

Biggest change in the Senate measure was an amendment to exclude State Police from coverage under the new state civil service system which would be established. As passed by the Senate, the bill would have included the State Police, along with all other major departments.

Earlier today the Democrats defeated a Republican proposal to turn the question of civil service over to a committee for study between now and the 1958 Legislature.

The bill would set up a system of state employment based on merit as demonstrated in competitive examinations. At the outset, the present three-member all Democratic Merit System Council would become the proposed Civil Service Commission. Merit System Council members would serve out their present terms.

Sweetly Sentimental St. Valentine's Day

Say "Be My Valentine" in a sweet and sentimental way with these homemade Valentine Jelly Scones—a not-too-sweet type of dessert bread that will win over any laddy's heart! Made in heart shapes with a center of tart jelly, serve them with lots of hot, strong coffee.

Valentine Jelly Scones

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup All-Bran (whole bran cereal)
⅓ cup shortening
2 eggs
⅓ cup light cream or top milk
tart jelly

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and 2 tablespoons of the sugar; stir in all-bran. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Beat eggs with cream. Add to all-bran mixture, stirring only until combined.

Turn out on lightly floured board; knead gently a few times. Roll out to about ¼-inch in thickness. Cut with heart-shaped cutter. Cut centers from half the heart shapes, using small heart-shaped or round cutter. Sprinkle with remaining sugar. Top plain hearts with heart outlines, pressing lightly together. Place on ungreased baking sheets along with small cut-out hearts. Bake in a very hot oven (450° F.) about 10 minutes.

Just before serving, fill centers with jelly.

Yeild: 9 jelly scones, 9 small heart-shaped scones.

Cherry Sweetheart Perfect Valentine Dessert

Here's a dessert as light-hearted and lovely as young love, and you can't help but respond to its beauty. It combines juicy, tender, canned dark sweet cherries, just slightly flavored with almond in a delicate-as-chiffon meringue heart.

If you've teenagers in the house, you can use them as an excuse for preparing this sentimental delicacy. Let them invite friends in, put on a few records, and the party's on. But if there are no youngsters about, you may as well go ahead and admit you're romantic at heart and concoct this lovely Valentine dessert.

If you have the canned light sweet cherries, color them a vivid red to carry through the favorite color for February's parties.

On a more practical side, you might keep the Cherry Sweetheart up your sleeve for engagement parties, bridal showers and anniversary celebrations. Certainly there could be no more appropriate dessert than this delicate meringue heart, brimful of dramatic, dark sweet cherries.

Cherry Sweetheart

Cherry Filling:
1 No. 303 can dark sweet cherries
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract

Drain cherries and reserve syrup. Pit cherries. Add cornstarch to cold syrup, blend in sugar and cook until thick and clear. Add pitted cherries and almond extract. Cool.

Meringue Heart:
3 egg whites
1 cup sugar, divided
¾ teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup slivered blanched almonds
½ pint (1 cup) dairy sour cream

Beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold a peak. Gradually beat in ½ cup sugar. Beat in remaining sugar a little at a time alternately with lemon juice. Fold in almonds. Beat until very stiff and glossy.

For heart shaped meringue, drop by spoonfuls in shape of heart drawn on paper set on baking sheet. Hollow out center slightly. Bake at 275 degrees for 60 minutes. Turn off oven and allow meringue to cool in oven, if possible. If not, cool away from drafts. When ready to serve, remove paper from heart, place on serving plate, spread center with sour cream and top with cherry filling. Serves 6 to 8.

Valentine Party Suggestions

To the high school set, Valentine's Day is much too exciting to pass up without a party. It may be as elegantly formal as the grown-ups', or merely a matter of dancing to records in the recreation room.

But a hostess-in-the-know takes first things first, meaning the menu. She realizes the way to a man's heart is through a well-stocked refreshment table!

Try a tray of sausage canapes, with the bread cut in shapes of hearts with a cookie cutter. Fillings should include salami, bologna, slices of hot frankfurters or similar sausages. Top with a touch of mustard and slice of stuffed olive.

Or for something equally delectable, serve a piping hot casserole of party franks and baked beans, covered with a Valentine red tomato sauce. Serve with hot bread sticks.

Individual Valentine pizzas make a novel and a filling treat. Take lightly toasted halves of English muffins and trim in shape of hearts with a cookie cutter. On each half, place slices of salami, then slices of tomato. Top with sliced or grated Parmesan cheese and sprinkle with oregano. Place pizzas on cookie sheets and run under the broiler until cheese starts to melt. Serve immediately.

With the sausage canapes or the frankfurter casserole, pass heaping plates of olives, pickles, celery and other relishes. Potato chips can be added in serving the Valentine pizzas. Coffee may be served, or a cherry or strawberry iced drink to carry out the color scheme.

Lincoln Cabin Cake

Lincoln Cabin Cake takes note of a February famous birthday, and offers something easy and quick to mark the occasion. It's Yellow Cake Mix; inspired by Mary Todd Lincoln's favorite recipe and decorated with the Lincoln log cabin.

Make Yellow Cake Mix according to directions on package. Bake in 13 x 9 x 2 oblong pan. Cool thoroughly before frosting.

Coffee-Cream Frosting:

1 cup heavy cream; ¼ cup confectioners' sugar; 1 tablespoon instant coffee; ⅔ cup Chocolate Wafers Crumbs (rolled very fine).

Combine cream, sugar and coffee. Whip until mixture is very stiff. Frost top and sides of cake. To decorate, draw a simple outline of cabin on top of cake using a small spatula to make indentation. Carefully sprinkle Chocolate Wafers crumbs from a teaspoon in the outline for logs, roof, door and window of cabin.

Jupiter is 87,000 miles in diameter.

Continental Fish Sauce

Crush 2 small cloves of garlic in ½ tsp. of Sterling Salt. Combine with ½ tsp. curry powder, 1 or 2 drops lemon juice, and 1 tsp. of Worcestershire Sauce. Then add plain mayonnaise until desired amount of sauce is made.

You add extra zest and sparkle to any dish with Sterling Salt's pure, snow-white "sparks of flavor." Plain or Iodized. Damp proof.

"Have A Heart" — It's Valentine's Day!

Here's a Valentine's Day menu that is as colorful as a box of confetti and it is created to tease your tongue as well. And there's a delightful cut-out centerpiece you can make that doubles as a server.....

Love Apple Heart Sandwiches
Carrott Arrows
Cherries Stuffed with Cheese
Walnut Macaroni Salad
Chilled Coca-Cola

Love Apple Heart Sandwiches

A tomato by any other name would be a "love apple" so what more appropriate ingredient for a Valentine's Day sandwich than a gay, red tomato.

2 loaves of white bread; 6 or 8 tomatoes; celery salt; mayonnaise or horse radish.

Cut thin slices of white bread into heart shapes. Slice tomatoes thin and place on bread following the outline of the heart shape as much as possible. Sprinkle with celery salt and dab with mayonnaise or horse radish —then cover. Lay each heart sandwich against a red lace paper heart. If you put them at the base of the centerpiece, they will look like part of it, and be a tempting, "eatable" addition to it. Serves a "crowd."

Carrot Arrows

Here is the real conversation piece of the Valentine table and easy to make.

4-6 large carrots

Just slice the carrots in half, lengthwise, and with a small, thin-bladed knife make them into the shape of an arrow. Set the carrots in beds of lettuce and serve. If you wish — slice the arrows blade-thin and use them to pierce the top slice of the heart sandwiches. If you turn the carrots over to the males at your party, they'll come up with some of the fanciest arrows you've ever shot... into your mouth.

Cheese Stuffed Cherries

Carry the heart-red note further with stuffed cherries as an extra "nibble" dish.

1 large package cream cheese
1 lb. Bing cherries

Pit the cherries, and fill them with snowy cream cheese. They look so delicious they will almost bounce into your mouth.

Walnut Macaroni Salad

1 package elbow macaroni; 1 green pepper; approximately 2 tablespoonfuls milk; 1 large yellow onion; 3 heaping tablespoonfuls mayonnaise; walnuts.

Boil macaroni as directed. When you have strained it, pour cold water over it to cool fast and keep the macaroni separated. Cut pepper and onion in fine pieces and lace these through macaroni. In separate cup mix mayonnaise and enough milk to make it creamy. Pour that over macaroni, and toss. Then stud salad with walnuts, broken in quarters. For garnish, set a few butterfly walnuts (halves) on top of the macaroni mound. Add pepper strips or rings for extra color if you like.

Iced Coca-Cola

Long before the guests come, chill low calorie Coca-Cola. Coke makes everything you eat with it taste better and its age-old low calorie count (only 77) is less than half a grapefruit. Serve it in an ice tub swimming in ice cubes — those waxed paper tubs are gay and practical and have a party air.

Valentine Ribbon Tree Centerpiece

Gather together bits of paper, ribbon and tiny artificial flowers, like primroses, some pipe cleaners, gummerd tape — and a bit of "glitter" if you want sparkle.

Make tiny hearts out of red paper. Cut ribbon into 4 or 4-½ inch strips and tie in bows. Cut pipe cleaners into any size you wish for branches, making them thin or thick as you desire. Wrap them in white tape and spray with "glitter." Make the tree trunk thick and spiral and use anything for a base that will fit the trunk bottom...or spread out the bottom of the pipe cleaners like a crab and sit it on a plate anchoring it with tape. Make a crepe paper skirt over this. Then lay the Love Apple Heart Sandwiches against it and you have your basic table display. Hang the hearts and ribbins from the branches and wind the primroses or any tiny flowers on their own stems around the branches.

Touch Of White

Waistcoats are in style again. White doeskin waistcoats were shown stitch trimmed and worn under grey Dior suits.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 hearts	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of spades.

Possession of a bad hand induces a give-up attitude on the part of many players in defending an adverse contract. Failure to remain alert even with a trickless holding can often prove fatal. Observe how essential it was for West to impart aid to his partner in today's hand.

South became declarer at a contract of four hearts. His two bid was based on 23 points and a six card suit, and North obediently responded in sufficient terms to reach game.

West opened the queen of spades. East overtook and cashed three rounds, West discarding the deuce of clubs. A trump was now led. Declarer won with the ace and started to run down all the trumps. West could contribute nothing to the partnership but information as to the distribution.

Observe in what an awkward situation East finds himself. The bidding and play mark declarer with the ace of clubs and the ace and king of diamonds, in addition to six hearts and three spades, but what is his 13th card? If it is a club, East must unguard diamonds. If it is a diamond, East must discard his jack of clubs. In any event, his selection may be deferred for three rounds while he is following suit to the hearts. During that time, West should shed light on the situation by discarding in some informaive pattern. The accepted practice is for the player in positions similar to West's to clear his hand of one suit.

West therefore discarded the four, seven, eight and nine of clubs in that order. His actions made it quite clear to partner that he had discarded all his clubs, marking him with five of the suit originally. South therefore, was marked with three diamonds, and it became routine for East to keep his queen guarded and to let go a club.

Note that had West lost interest in the proceedings and made his discards at random, his partner would have been placed in the extremely uncomfortable position of having to guess which suit to unguard.

Sweet Valentine

You'll be Queen of Hearts if you make this pretty and delicious "love token" on Valentine's Day.

Line a heart-shaped mold with aluminum foil. Let foil extend over edge of pan so you can lift out the dessert. Stand shortbread around sides of mold. Fill with strawberry ice cream, softened enough to spread evenly. Garnish top of mold with fresh strawberry halves arranged heart-shape. Freeze at least 2 hours. Lift dessert from pan with foil. Peel off foil and serve from your prettiest platter. Cut dessert in wedges between the cookies and serve with additional cookies.

¼ cup chopped onion
3 tablespoon butter or margarine
6 tablespoons enriched flour
2 cups milk
1¼ teaspoons salt

Valentine Glamor Dessert

Valentine's Day Dessert Treat

The sentiment of Valentine's Day isn't always expressed by cards and candy alone. Frequently the unexpected treat Mom offers the family for dinner provides the greatest pleasure.

The beauty of preparing something good to eat is that it need not require culinary feats of imagination to be partified. These cherry puffs, for example, are filled with creamy, rich vanilla ice cream. They are simple to make yet gala enough for any of the February holidays. Best of all, they make the kind of nourishing, tart-sweet dessert that's good for everyone from junior to father.

CHERRY PUFFS
(Eight Servings)

1½ cups drained, red sour cherries
¼ teaspoon almond flavoring
1 tablespoon lemon juice
⅓ cup butter
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond flavoring
1 egg
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup milk
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Mix together cherries, almond flavoring and lemon juice; place in bottom of 8 buttered custard cups. Cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light. Add remaining almond flavoring and egg. Beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Mix well. Spoon batter over cherries, filling cups about ⅔ full. Bake at 375 degrees, for 20 minutes or until lightly browned on top.

Cool puffs slightly and carefully remove from cups. Serve with scoops of ice cream and top with the following cherry sauce.

Cherry Sauce: Combine ¼ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Gradually stir in 1 cup cherry juice. Cook until clear and thickened, about 10 minutes, stirring constantly.

Valentine Fluff

A real glamor dessert to serve at a Valentine party, or to top off the family dinner, is this delicious heart-shaped fluff. You can be sure it will become one of your favorite "special occasion" dessert recipes. Whole frozen strawberries are best to use, reserving a few for top decoration.

Valentine Fluff

1 pound marshmallows
1¼ cups cream soda
Few grains salt
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1½ cups frozen strawberries, halved.
1 cup graham crackers and vanilla wafer crums mixed

Heat marshmallows, cream soda, salt and lemon juice over hot water until marshmallows are melted. Chill thoroughly. Slowly and carefully fold whipped cream into marshmallow mixture. Fold in strawberries. Sprinkle ½ of crumbs into bottom of 1½ quart heart-shaped pan. Spoon marshmallow and fruit mixture over crumbs; top with remaining crumbs. Chill several hours or overnight until firm. Makes 10-12 servings.

Life Time Job

The average homemaker is said to wash 2½ million cooking and eating utensils in her life time, about 70 stacks as high as the Empire State building.

Homemakers spend an average of 73.2 minutes a day in the overall dishwashing process including all activities from clearing the table through wiping off range and work counter, homemaking surveys say. The automatic dishwasher is said to reduce this time by approximately one-half.

Frostburg Teachers Sweep Shepherd Series, 70-60

Bobcats Post Twelfth Win Of Campaign

Cop 5th In Row; Marple, Cave And Smith Score 52

FROSTBURG, Feb. 7 — Dave Marple, Jim Cave and "Buck" Smith slammed in 52 points to lead Coach Waldon Skinner's Frostburg State Teachers College quint to its 12th triumph of the season over the Shepherd College Rams here tonight. The score was 70-60.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Bobcats and enabled them to sweep their series with Coach Jesse Riggleman's aggregation. Frostburg won the first game at Shepherdstown in December by the score of 83-70.

The first half of tonight's game was a see-saw until after Jim Cave's goal sent the Bobcats to the fore at 27-26 and they never gave up the lead thereafter. The score was 33-26 at halftime. Frostburg's biggest margin was 16 points midway in the second half but the Rams put on a strong finish to finish only 10 points in the rear.

Marple collected 19 points, Jim Cave 18 and "Buck" Smith 15. Bill Turner, former Allegany High player, paced the Shepherd scoring with eight baskets and 20 points.

Frostburg's junior varsity provided an upset in the preliminary game by edging the Victory Post Blue Angels of Westernport, 64-63, despite a 39-point scoring spree by Don Moran of the losers. Five Jayvee players scored in double figures. They were Luman 16, Thompson 12, Sullivan 11, Roberts and Kline 10 points each. Lineups:

Beagles Are Tops

Four Trotter Units

By C. V. BURNS

WILLIAM Raymond Perry Jr., of 25 Water Street, Piedmont, one of the tri-state area's outstanding sandlot baseball players, and Miss Cleta Jean Beckwith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh N. Beckwith, 414 Central Avenue, will be married today at 7 p. m., at the home of Rev. George Bell, pastor of McKendree Methodist Church, 132 Polk Street.

"Junie" Perry, a product of Howard High School, at Piedmont, where he first attracted attention as a basketball player, has been one of the area's outstanding basketball players for several seasons.

For the past two years Perry has starred with John Maiden's Potomac State College baseball team and won the batting championship of the Pen-Mar Baseball League in 1956 while alternating as pitcher and outfielder for the Grantsville Sluggers. He batted .472, led the league in home runs with 15 roundtrippers and swiped 14 bases to pace the circuit in that department.

Perry, incidentally, attracted the attention of New York Giants' scouts last season, and he will get a tryout at the major league club's camp in Florida next month. "Junie" takes off for Florida on March 14.

FREDERICK High School's Cadets apparently didn't know the gun was loaded when they visited Hagerstown Tuesday night. South Hagerstown's Rebels spilled Homer Brooks' favored aggregation by the score of 67-60 to square the season series. The Cadets had a tough time winning the first game on their home floor, 57-53.

North Hagerstown and Frederick tangle at the latter place tonight in a battle for first place in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League. At present Mel Henry's Hubs and the Cadets are tied for the lead with 3-1 records. Frederick copped the series opener, 54-42.

A REPORT out of Fairmont to the effect that one of the tri-state area's outstanding athletes flunked out at West Virginia University because he failed to pass a single one of the seven courses he was carrying, really is a shocker.

This West Virginia high school track, football and basketball player did not enroll for the second semester.

Bill Evans, Fairmont sports scribe, who is close to the niversity, reveals this fact and it makes one wonder how some athletes ever get out of high school.

There must be something radically wrong with the educational system when an athlete can "earn" a high school diploma then fails seven courses in his freshman year in college.

ALLEGANY and Valley are waging an interesting race for team foul shooting honors in this area.

The Campers lead with an average of .6597 for 285 conversions in 432 attempts. Valley is second with .6548 with 277 points in 423 tries.

Elk Garden is third on the list with an average of .6333. The Elks have meshed 247 of 390 shots at the charity stripe.

JOE WILLIAMS, writing about a professional wrestling show at Madison Square Garden the other night, had the following to say:

"At one stage Antonio Rocca's pretended agonies (Von Hess was gleefully garroting him with a cord dangling from the ring rope) were so genuine in appearance, a well dressed young woman leaped from her seat and had to be restrained by her escort.

"When she continued screaming abuse at the bogus Von Hess, the escort let her have one right in the kisser.

"Fortunately, for the future of the sport this was the only honest punch thrown during the fight."

REGISTRATIONS processed by the American Kennel Club show that beagles headed the list as America's favorite breed during the 1956 dog shows.

The hounds surpassed all other breeds in numbers at trials. A total of 69,432 beagles were shown last year.

Boxers were in second place with 39,502 on display. The remainder of the first ten in order were chihuahuas, Dachshunds, cocker spaniels, German Shepherds, poodles, collies, Boston terriers and Pekingese.

One of the most active dog organizations in this section is the Allegany Beagle Club which sponsors at least a dozen field trials annually on the Barton Dairy Farm.

BEDFORD High School will have Windber High School on its football schedule this year. It will be the first meeting of the Bisons and Coaltowners on the gridiron in 25 years. The series lapsed after the 1932 season.

The last time Windber played a Cumberland school was in 1937 and Fort Hill got clobbered 58-7 after taking a 54-6 beating from the Pennsylvanians in 1936.

LaSalle used to have Windber's number, however. In 1930 Denny Shay's Explorers won 7-6 and Pat Conway's 1931 outfit whipped the Keystone Staters, 6-0.

HENRY "Dutch" Dehnert, the pivot play expert of the once famous Original Celtics, nation's top pro team for many years, informs us there are four units of the Harlem Globetrotters on the road now and one will play here Saturday night.

Dehnert, who came from Rockaway Beach, N. Y., to attend the Dapper Dan dinner, and a reunion with W. Arnold "Doc" Gunther, ex-Casey basketball executive, who used to entertain the Celtics when they came to town, now is chief scout for the Globetrotters and expressed interest in Ken Cole, the high scoring center of Sanders High School at Moorefield.

Maybe the Trotters can make a King out of Ken.

Mountaineers Trim New York U., 83-77

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—Hot Rod Hundley was held to eight points but his West Virginia teammate Lloyd Sharrar came to the rescue as the Mountaineers toppled New York University, 83-77, in the wind-up of a Madison Square Garden collegiate doubleheader tonight.

A field goal by Bill Chrystal with 40 seconds to play gave St. John's of Brooklyn a 63-62 victory over George Washington in the opener.

Sharrar collected 26 points before fouling out with four minutes remaining. The victory was the ninth in a row for the West Virginians.

The NYU Violets, trailing 38-35 at halftime, fought back to a 61-61 deadlock midway in the second half but the timely shooting of Sharrar and Bob Smith kept the Mountaineers in front.

Hundley, closely guarded by NYU's Jimmy Nidds, hit for three field goals in the first half and added two free throws in the second. NYU pressed West Virginia so hard, Hundley never had a chance to indulge in any of his famed clowning.

Cal Ramsey kept the Violets close with 21 points. He was trailed by teammate Tom Deluca with 15. Smith tallied 16 for the Mountaineers.

Golf Rookie Paces Tucson Open Tourney

Howie Johnson's 64 Leads By One Stroke

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 7 (AP)—Howie Johnson, a care-free golfing rookie from Houston, Tex., took the first-round lead in the $15,000 Tucson Open with a 6-under-par 64 today.

The former University of Minnesota player has never finished better than 16th since becoming a qualified pro last July.

Pierce Asked To Desist From Playing Basketball

Comiskey Appeals To Chisox Hurler

CHICAGO, Feb. 7 — (INS) — Vice president Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox sent an urgent appeal to star southpaw Billy Pierce at his Birmingham, Mich., home today "to desist from playing basketball" with a group of major leaguers in the Detroit area.

The 28-year-old Pierce reached the 20-game victory circle for the first time last season, and Comiskey is admittedly worried about anything happening to him. Pierce recently signed a contract calling for $36,000.

The telegram Comiskey sent, read:

"I did not learn until yesterday of your determination to play basketball but I urgently request that you desist from playing further. I also do not want you to jeopardize Wilt the Stilt's (Chamberlain) reputation and above all your own since it would be very easy to sustain an injury."

The team was organized by Detroit shortstop Harvey Kuenn and is made up of major leaguers in the Detroit area.

Campers Seek 17th Straight Home Victory

Bruce High Hosts Mt. Savage; Beall Visits Fort Hill

Undefeated at home in 16 consecutive games, Allegany High School's basketeers hope to advance another step toward their 22nd W.M.I. League championship in 37 years when they face Valley High School of Lonaconing, leading contender for the crown, tonight at 8 o'clock at Campobello.

Allegany tucked away the Allegany County Class A crown by knocking off Beall in Frostburg Tuesday night while Valley was rudely jolted and tied for first place in the Class B race by the Mt. Savage High School Indians.

Valley Win Would Tie

Allegany turned back Valley on the latter's floor January 11 by the score of 63-60 and is expected to emerge the winner in a close battle tonight. Allegany is setting the pace in the league with a 6-1 record while Valley occupies second place with a 5-2 record. A victory for the Black Knights tonight would tie up the race with only two games remaining on the schedule of each team.

Coach John Thomas' Mt. Savage quint, which spilled Allegany and Valley in its last two outings, can take the lead in the Class B race if victorious tonight at Bruce High School.

Mt. Savage and Valley are now knotted for the lead at 2-1. Valley plays its final game with Bruce on February 15. It looks like Valley and Mt. Savage will tie for Class B honors, thus necessitating a playoff to determine which school shall represent the county in the district tourney at Hagerstown next month.

The third game on tonight's W. M. I. League card brings together Beall and Fort Hill on the latter's court.

Six Games In PVC

In the Potomac Valley Conference, the West Virginia School for the Deaf, now in the driver's seat, will be striving to tighten its grip on first place when it plays Wardensville High School at Romney.

Five other P. V. C. battles are on the slate, namely, Petersburg at Piedmont, Keyser at Ridgeley, Romney at Moorefield, Circleville at Mathias and Fort Ashby at Elk Garden. The Elks will be shooting for their 12th consecutive victory.

Rounding out the Friday night program are the following contests.

Bayard at Southern, Harman at Franklin, Oldtown at Capon Bridge, Mountaineer High of Thomas vs. Beverly at Davis, Berkeley Springs at Hedgesville, and two Bedford County League tilts featuring Hyndman at Everett and Bedford at Chestnut Ridge.

Touring Pros Send Evans $1,000 Gift

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 7 (AP)—The touring professional golfers here for the Tucson Open are sending Max Evans, Utica, Mich., a gift of $1,000.

Syracuse Wins

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Feb. 7 (AP)—The Syracuse Nationals staved off a comeback by the St. Louis Hawks to eke out a 112-110 decision in their National Basketball Assn. game tonight.

Frank Sedgman Beats Rosewall

SYDNEY, Feb. 7 (AP)—A crowd of 10,000 crammed White City Stadium tonight anticipating a battle between two of Australia's former Davis Cup tennis greats. But it proved a breeze for Frank Sedgman as the old pro very nearly swept rookie pro Ken Rosewall off the court.

Sedgman, 29-year-old past-master whose last stand as an amateur was in 1952, finished off the 22-year-old Rosewall 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 to advance to Sunday's championship match in the professional tournament.

He will face either Pancho Gonzales or Pancho Segura, who meet in the other semifinal tomorrow.

Market, In Slow Trading, Rises Slightly, Then Slips

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP) — The stock market failed to hold a slight advance today and declined in slow trading.

Leading stocks were off from fractions to around 2 points.

A generally higher tone prevailed during most of the session but the turnover was leisurely and there seemed little conviction behind it.

The market had some bullish news to work on but not much. The English Bank rate was reduced to 5 per cent from 5½ and this led to an advance in the London stock market. There were reports of higher auto output from Detroit.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 60 cents to $173.10 with the industrials down 90 cents, the rails down $1.00 and the utilities up 10 cents.

Volume totaled 1,840,000 shares compared with 2,110,000 yesterday.

The most active stocks was U.S. Hoffman Machinery, up ⅜ at 12½ on 38,400 shares. Second was General Motors, up ⅛ at 40½ on 38,000 shares. Third was Bethlehem Steel, the new stock resulting from the 4-for-1 stock split, off ½ at 43⅞.

Trio Of Area Measures Given Senate Approval

The State Senate Wednesday enacted House Bill 172 which takes off the $3,000 limit on the annual wages of the registrars of the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners.

The registrars, if the bill is signed into law by Gov. McKeldin, will then have a salary of "not less than $3,000," opening up the way for an increase.

The bill was sponsored by the Allegany County delegation.

The Senate also enacted another Allegany County bill, House Bill 45, sponsored by Del. George R. Hughes Jr.

This clears up a situation in the Board law pertaining to the Allegany County Board of Education membership tenure, and provides for an appointment as soon as the bill is passed. Sen. Charles M. See amended it to make it an emergency measure. An appointment was lacking for this year.

The Senate also enacted a Garrett County bill, House Bill 120, sponsored by that county's delegation. That requires the annual Garrett County audit to be made by a certified public accountant.

Here are seven beauty tricks that models count on to do something special for them.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be Something Extra To Look At, Take Extra Pains

Have you ever thought about another girl—"Why, she's really no better looking than I am, but somehow, everyone thinks she's a beauty—and nobody feels that way about me"?

You can be sure of one thing about her—the stand-out girl you envy isn't satisfied to care for her looks in ordinary ways. She's enjoying the returns of a good investment, the investment of more than ordinary effort to turn herself out beautifully.

To be something extra to look at, you must take extra pains. Certainly perfect grooming that's constant and unfailing creates an impression that nothing else equals. This must be your goal. It's a big order, but it's made up of little things. For exmaple, your hair, your skin and your make-up that everyone else sees in detail can be brought to perfection with extra care in details. Here are important ones models count on to do something extra for them:

Three hundred strokes of the hair brush every day. This is the secret of the extraordinary shine models' hair has—three times as many as the usual number that does you credit, or more. And to keep your coiffure in order all day, rearrangement with a small brush you carry around with you, not with a comb.

A special dividend of extra care for your skin at least once a week in addition to following the correct routine for it daily, the one for your type of skin. The refreshment of an occasional salt rub with your bath to give your skin all over refreshment. The proper application of powder by pressing it onto a clean face, then dusting off excess, and cleansing before starting makeup over oftener than once a day. Use a lipstick brush, not just a lipstick to make sure of a clearcut outline that stays that way.

TOMORROW—Pinnacle of perfection.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7—(INS)—The cast Hecht-Hill and Lancaster have assembled for "Separate Tables" would make any producer do a little crowing. Let me tell you who producer Hecht has lined up.

Laurence Olivier will direct and play the role of the major, Deborah Kerr is signed for Sybil, Burt Lancaster is set for the labor leader who has to give up a high government position because he is divorced, and Vivien Leigh has agreed to play his ex-wife.

Larry and Vivien arrive here the 20th of this month to talk over plans, but the picture will not actually go before the cameras until October of this year. If this cast doesn't bring money into the boxoffice, I give up!

The year starts off auspiciously for Joan Fontaine, whose career has taken a great upward turn. She joins Jean Simmons and Paul Newman in the James Michener story "Until They Sail" at MGM. Interestingly enough, Joan goes back to the studio which gave her her first big break when she played the teenage bride in the original version of "The Women."

In the Michener story she plays a girl who hates men. Now that wouldn't be Joanie in real life! The locale is New Zealand during World War II.

Joan just finished "Island In The Sun" for Darryl Zanuck.

Lauren Bacall was up to her neck answering letters when I dropped in to see her a few days ago.

"You can't believe the size of the mail since Bogey's death," she said, "not only the usual fan letters, but people sending checks for the Humphrey Bogart Cancer Fund. I feel that anyone who goes to that trouble is entitled to a personal word from me, so each day I tackle as many letters as I can."

Betty says she won't make a picture for several months, and she wants to be sure she does something of which Bogey would approve. She says she wishes he might have seen "Designing Woman." "He was always so particular about what role I played," she told me.

The children, Stephen, age eight, and Leslie, four-and-a-half, were playing in the yard and came to greet me. Betty thinks Stephen looks like his father, but I think he looks like her and that the little girl resembles her father.

Elvis Presley says his mother has just been released from a Methodist hospital where she underwent a complete checkup and was given permisison to come here with his father in three weeks to visit him.

"I'm going to give them a real tour of the town," said Elvis, "because I can't say when I'll be be called into the Army. It's anybody's guess as to when I'll be called."

I hear tell Presley's asking price for a picture now is $250,000 plus 50 per cent of the gross profits. But if he goes into the Army he may not even get another chance to make a picture for at least 18 months.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Are Shirley Jones and Jack Cassidy awaiting a blessed event? That's what I hear rumored.

Anna Magnani is headed for New York where she'll spend an entire month before coming to Hollywood to do "Obsessed." She had little chance to see America when she was here last time.

I have never seen cuter children or better little actors than in Gene Kelly's "The Happy Road." Here's one picture ma, pa, the children and grandma and grandpa can see—and it has a lot of charm.

Bing Crosby is back in Palm Springs. He and Gordon MacRae, Peter Lind Hayes and Pete Pettito relaxed at Alan Dale's after a hot and heavy golf tournament.

Lizabeth Scott sings a dittv with Elvis Presley in "Lovin' You," the Hal Wallis epic.

Dinah Shore opens at the Flamingo the 14th. While she's in Las Vegas she will make three appearances on radio for the Heart Fund, bringing in disc jockeys to help her plug this worthy cause.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

The Honeymooners Get A Sea Change

Jackie Gleason, in an effort to bolster a faltering rating, has taken his wife to Paris, on the first stop of a projected trip around the world. This same remedy has been applied from time to time to faltering marriages and sometimes it just kills them quicker.

In Gleason's case, though, I think the sea air will do him good. I was getting damned tired of that sleazy apartment where the Kramdens have been confined for five years. It had a sort of dismal comic charm when I first laid eyes on it years ago; in fact, after a visit with the Kramdens, you looked at your own diggings—no matter how paltry—with renewed appreciation; but it is the nature of comedy that these things pall on you and, after a bit, the place was only dismal and not at all comic.

Besides travel, Gleason has added words and music to the show and this has brightened things considerably, too. Not that the songs contributed to the first of these shows by Lyn Duddy and Jerry Bressler have exactly enriched the musical storehouses of the world; in fact, both in melody and lyrics, they were rather perfunctory and the opening song to the effect that they were off to Paris—"The reservations have all been made. We're looking forward to an escapade"—was terribly reminiscent of all the other "we're off to" numbers clear back to "Shuffle Off To Buffalo" and perhaps extending clear back to "The Odyssey." ("Man and boy, we're off to Troy," I can hear the Greek chorus chanting).

It's just that music has added one more dimension to the show and we may hope that the future songs may have a little more substance to them. I must say I thoroughly enjoyed a number in which Gleason and his sidekick Art Carney, adrift in a lifeboat, fell to bellowing at one another: "If I must die, let me die with a pal like you." I'm looking forward to picking up the quartet in Paris next Saturday.

Getting out of town is not a new note to the TV comedy shows—"I Love Lucy" went clear across the country in pursuit of new gags—but getting out of the country seems to be this year's contribution to the culture of the comedians. Jack Benny has been to London and Rome, Phil Silvers to Monte Carlo, and Bob Hope to everywhere, including Alaska. This is very broadening for the comedians—or at least, for their writers—and just possibly for the rest of us.

Otherwise, it has not been a particularly encouraging year for comics who have had to run very fast to stay where they are. There's a germ of a lesson here for those of you who have budding young comics among your small fry. Tell them to go take singing lessons. The singers seem more durable in appeal and the wear and tear on their nerves is much less.

One comic who appears to be an exception to all the rules is Sid Caesar. Year in, year out, Cesar is explosively funny and apparently inexhaustible. The other night he did one of his monologues about taking his young son to the movies and, after unpeeling snowsuits, space helmets, revolvers and one thing and another off, exclaimed: "There's no child here." It was a horror movie in which the Creature eats the Monster and Caesar's comment to his son during this edifying bit was: "I wish you'd eat like that. You'd grow up to be big and strong."

It was, in short, very genuine, perceptive humor about an experience recognizable to all fathers of small boys. It may be too much to ask but I wish more TV humor had relevance to life around me as opposed to gags about Zsa Zsa Gabor. Caesar also contributed a very funny parody called "The Somerset Winterset Playhouse" in which

The State Senate Wednesday enacted House Bill 172 which takes off the $3,000 limit on the annual wages of the registrars of the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners.

The registrars, if the bill is signed into law by Gov. McKeldin, will then have a salary of "not less than $3,000," opening up the way for an increase.

The bill was sponsored by the Allegany County delegation.

The Senate also enacted another Allegany County bill, House Bill 45, sponsored by Del. George R. Hughes Jr.

This clears up a situation in the Board law pertaining to the Allegany County Board of Education membership tenure, and provides for an appointment as soon as the bill is passed. Sen. Charles M. See amended it to make it an emergency measure. An appointment was lacking for this year.

The Senate also enacted a Garrett County bill, House Bill 120, sponsored by that county's delegation. That requires the annual Garrett County audit to be made by a certified public accountant.

Here are seven beauty tricks that models count on to do something special for them.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be Something Extra To Look At, Take Extra Pains

Have you ever thought about another girl—"Why, she's really no better looking than I am, but somehow, everyone thinks she's a beauty—and nobody feels that way about me"?

You can be sure of one thing about her—the stand-out girl you envy isn't satisfied to care for her looks in ordinary ways. She's enjoying the returns of a good investment, the investment of more than ordinary effort to turn herself out beautifully.

To be something extra to look at, you must take extra pains. Certainly perfect grooming that's constant and unfailing creates an impression that nothing else equals. This must be your goal. It's a big order, but it's made up of little things. For exmaple, your hair, your skin and your make-up that everyone else sees in detail can be brought to perfection with extra care in details. Here are important ones models count on to do something extra for them:

Three hundred strokes of the hair brush every day. This is the secret of the extraordinary shine models' hair has—three times as many as the usual number that does you credit, or more. And to keep your coiffure in order all day, rearrangement with a small brush you carry around with you, not with a comb.

A special dividend of extra care for your skin at least once a week in addition to following the correct routine for it daily, the one for your type of skin. The refreshment of an occasional salt rub with your bath to give your skin all over refreshment. The proper application of powder by pressing it onto a clean face, then dusting off excess, and cleansing before starting makeup over oftener than once a day. Use a lipstick brush, not just a lipstick to make sure of a clearcut outline that stays that way.

TOMORROW—Pinnacle of perfection.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7—(INS)—The cast Hecht-Hill and Lancaster have assembled for "Separate Tables" would make any producer do a little crowing. Let me tell you who producer Hecht has lined up.

Laurence Olivier will direct and play the role of the major, Deborah Kerr is signed for Sybil, Burt Lancaster is set for the labor leader who has to give up a high government position because he is divorced, and Vivien Leigh has agreed to play his ex-wife.

Larry and Vivien arrive here the 20th of this month to talk over plans, but the picture will not actually go before the cameras until October of this year. If this cast doesn't bring money into the boxoffice, I give up!

The year starts off auspiciously for Joan Fontaine, whose career has taken a great upward turn. She joins Jean Simmons and Paul Newman in the James Michener story "Until They Sail" at MGM. Interestingly enough, Joan goes back to the studio which gave her her first big break when she played the teenage bride in the original version of "The Women."

In the Michener story she plays a girl who hates men. Now that wouldn't be Joanie in real life! The locale is New Zealand during World War II.

Joan just finished "Island In The Sun" for Darryl Zanuck.

Lauren Bacall was up to her neck answering letters when I dropped in to see her a few days ago.

"You can't believe the size of the mail since Bogey's death," she said, "not only the usual fan letters, but people sending checks for the Humphrey Bogart Cancer Fund. I feel that anyone who goes to that trouble is entitled to a personal word from me, so each day I tackle as many letters as I can."

Betty says she won't make a picture for several months, and she wants to be sure she does something of which Bogey would approve. She says she wishes he might have seen "Designing Woman." "He was always so particular about what role I played," she told me.

The children, Stephen, age eight, and Leslie, four-and-a-half, were playing in the yard and came to greet me. Betty thinks Stephen looks like his father, but I think he looks like her and that the little girl resembles her father.

Elvis Presley says his mother has just been released from a Methodist hospital where she underwent a complete checkup and was given permisison to come here with his father in three weeks to visit him.

"I'm going to give them a real tour of the town," said Elvis, "because I can't say when I'll be be called into the Army. It's anybody's guess as to when I'll be called."

I hear tell Presley's asking price for a picture now is $250,000 plus 50 per cent of the gross profits. But if he goes into the Army he may not even get another chance to make a picture for at least 18 months.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Are Shirley Jones and Jack Cassidy awaiting a blessed event? That's what I hear rumored.

Anna Magnani is headed for New York where she'll spend an entire month before coming to Hollywood to do "Obsessed." She had little chance to see America when she was here last time.

I have never seen cuter children or better little actors than in Gene Kelly's "The Happy Road." Here's one picture ma, pa, the children and grandma and grandpa can see—and it has a lot of charm.

Bing Crosby is back in Palm Springs. He and Gordon MacRae, Peter Lind Hayes and Pete Pettito relaxed at Alan Dale's after a hot and heavy golf tournament.

Lizabeth Scott sings a ditty with Elvis Presley in "Lovin' You," the Hal Wallis epic.

Dinah Shore opens at the Flamingo the 14th. While she's in Las Vegas she will make three appearances on radio for the Heart Fund, bringing in disc jockeys to help her plug this worthy cause.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

The Honeymooners Get A Sea Change

Jackie Gleason, in an effort to bolster a faltering rating, has taken his wife to Paris, on the first stop of a projected trip around the world. This same remedy has been applied from time to time to faltering marriages and sometimes it just kills them quicker.

In Gleason's case, though, I think the sea air will do him good. I was getting damned tired of that sleazy apartment where the Kramdens have been confined for five years. It had a sort of dismal comic charm when I first laid eyes on it years ago; in fact, after a visit with the Kramdens, you looked at your own diggings—no matter how paltry—with renewed appreciation; but it is the nature of comedy that these things pall on you and, after a bit, the place was only dismal and not at all comic.

Besides travel, Gleason has added words and music to the show and this has brightened things considerably, too. Not that the songs contributed to the first of these shows by Lyn Duddy and Jerry Bressler have exactly enriched the musical storehouses of the world; in fact, both in melody and lyrics, they were rather perfunctory and the opening song to the effect that they were off to Paris—"The reservations have all been made. We're looking forward to an escapade"—was terribly reminiscent of all the other "we're off to" numbers clear back to "Shuffle Off To Buffalo" and perhaps extending clear back to "The Odyssey." ("Man and boy, we're off to Troy," I can hear the Greek chorus chanting).

It's just that music has added one more dimension to the show and we may hope that the future songs may have a little more substance to them. I must say I thoroughly enjoyed a number in which Gleason and his sidekick Art Carney, adrift in a lifeboat, fell to bellowing at one another: "If I must die, let me die with a pal like you." I'm looking forward to picking up the quartet in Paris next Saturday.

Getting out of town is not a new note to the TV comedy shows—"I Love Lucy" went clear across the country in pursuit of new gags—but getting out of the country seems to be this year's contribution to the culture of the comedians. Jack Benny has been to London and Rome, Phil Silvers to Monte Carlo, and Bob Hope to everywhere, including Alaska. This is very broadening for the comedians—or at least, for their writers—and just possibly for the rest of us.

Otherwise, it has not been a particularly encouraging year for comics who have had to run very fast to stay where they are. There's a germ of a lesson here for those of you who have budding young comics among your small fry. Tell them to go take singing lessons. The singers seem more durable in appeal and the wear and tear on their nerves is much less.

One comic who appears to be an exception to all the rules is Sid Caesar. Year in, year out, Cesar is explosively funny and apparently inexhaustible. The other night he did one of his monologues about taking his young son to the movies and, after unpeeling snowsuits, space helmets, revolvers and one thing and another off, exclaimed: "There's no child here." It was a horror movie in which the Creature eats the Monster and Caesar's comment to his son during this edifying bit was: "I wish you'd eat like that. You'd grow up to be big and strong."

It was, in short, very genuine, perceptive humor about an experience recognizable to all fathers of small boys. It may be too much to ask but I wish more TV humor had relevance to life around me as opposed to gags about Zsa Zsa Gabor. Caesar also contributed a very funny parody called "The Somerset Winterset Playhouse" in which

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

GOP Selects Candidates For Election Board

Earl Manges Made SCC First Choice

The Allegany County Republican Committee last night recommended four persons for the two GOP positions on the county board of election supervisors at a meeting held in the office of James S. Getty, chairman.

Chairman Getty said the four names to be submitted to Governor Theodore R. McKeldin for appointment to the board of election supervisors, in the order of their preference according to the votes of the seven-member committee, are Earl E. Manges, local attorney; Victor M. Hebb, Cumberland; William A. Wilson, of Midland and Mrs. Zena Davis, Cumberland.

Mr. Wilson is present chairman of the board, and Mr. Hebb, also a member of the Republican Committee, is the other GOP board member. Matthew J. Mullaney holds the minority Democratic post on the election board.

The committee also submitted two names for appointment as substitute supervisor for the election board. They are, in order of their preference, Mrs. Maxine Squires and Karl Bachman, both of Cumberland. Mr. Bachman is the present election board's substitute supervisor.

Last night's meeting was called following Gov. McKeldin's request that the committee's recommendations be submitted to him by February 12.

The governor also has called upon the Democratic Committee to submit its list for the minority post. The Democrats have not yet called their meeting, but some officials have indicated Mr. Mullaney will be renominated to his position.

The group also made preliminary plans for the county's Lincoln Day dinner, indicating that it may not be held until about March 1.

Mr. Getty said Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde's office has assured the local committee that a high-ranking GOP official will be the principal speaker for the Lincoln Day affair. He added that when official acceptance has been made the time and date for the dinner will be announced.

The committee made no official announcement last night of plans for the next meeting, when the remainder of the county's "green bag" recommendations will be made.

Quartet Feature Of Minstrelks

The Elks Quartet, one of the most popular features of Minstrelks performances of past years, will return this year when the Minstrelks of 1957 goes on stage Monday and Tuesday at the Maryland Theatre. The quartet was absent from the 1955 and 1956 productions. Tuning up in their snazzy outfits are (left to right) Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Cletus Hartsock, Robert Moreland and Kenneth F. Beck. Proceeds of the show, sponsored by Cumberland Lodge 63 Elks, will go to Allegany County League for Crippled Children. Reserved seat tickets are still available.

City's Net General Debt Now Totals $5,324,000

The net general debt of the City of Cumberland totaled $5,324,000 this week as the Mayor and Council made plans to issue $500,000 of bonds to finance city's obligations for the Cumberland Thruway.

Here is the picture for the general debt, according to figures furnished by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor:

When the last fiscal year ended on June 30, general obligations of the City of Cumberland totaled $6,261,000.

Since then, two bond issues totaling $300,000 have been issued to help build an addition to the Nurses Home of Memorial Hospital and for local costs of the flood control project.

This would have brought the gross general debt to the $6,561,000 mark.

From that figure, however, is to be subtracted $562,000 of bonds retired since June 30, and $675,000 which is in the sinking fund to retire general obligations.

This left a net debt of $5,324,000 on February 1, and the addition of the half-million issue being planned would bring the total to $5,824,000.

These figures are only for general obligations which bear the full faith and credit of the City of Cumberland, and do not include Water Department financing.

As of June 30, the Water Department had a gross debt of $4,295,000 and a net debt of $2,834,537.20 after deducting the $1,659,537.20 set aside in the sinking fund to retire term water bonds.

Man Is Held On Bad Check Charges Here

A Baltimore man, convicted five years ago on a federal charge and sent to the federal penitentiary in Atlanta, Ga., yesterday was brought to Cumberland to face at least eight counts of passing bad checks here.

Oliver Earl Minter, alias Robert Munford, waived extradition before Clark D. Shaw, Judge of Superior Court, Atlanta Judicial Circuit, and was returned to Cumberland by county officials who went to Atlanta to pick him up on the detainer warrant placed against him.

Minter was arrested in Baltimore and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years shortly after he allegedly wrote and cashed eight bad checks at various business establishments in Cumberland on September 20, 1952.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said the checks were drawn on a Union Trust Company bank in Baltimore and were made out for various amounts. The checks totaled approximately $400 and were passed in about two hours here.

The investigator said the man who cashed the false checks here posed as a soldier drawing funds on an Army company at Fort George G. Meade. They were machine-made checks and looked "very authentic."

A tip provided by a local cab driver, who had seen the check passer and said he recognized him as a former convict with a record for bad checks, gave authorities here information which resulted in Minter's arrest later in Baltimore.

Lilya said Minter will be brought to the state's attorney's office today for questioning. He probably will receive a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate Court today or tomorrow on the charges.

Sheriff Edward R. Muir and deputies Paul Haberlein and Lewis Tyree made the trip to Georgia to bring Minter here.

Equity Suits Filed

Five equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The bills of complaint were titled Georgia A. Davis vs. Paul R. Davis, Irene Dorcas Strickler vs. Victor Glenn Strickler, Wanda Elizabeth Baker vs. Leo Roy Baker, Frances Elizabeth Pyles vs. Robert Franklin Pyles and Violet M. Westfall vs. Aruthur C. Westfall.

Marine Tells About Moscow

Rye bread in Russia is excellent but it is quite a job to buy a loaf in one of Moscow's stores which handle bread products.

That observation was made yesterday by Marine Technical Sergeant John B. Kerridge, 29-year-old native of Selma, Ala., who spoke at an assembly of Allegany High School students and at the luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club.

Sergeant Kerridge recalled a number of incidents from the 18 months in 1954 and 1955 when he was stationed at the American embassy in Moscow. The Marine said that the shopper must stand in line to select the kind of bread he wants. Then he must get in another line to pay the cashier, who then gives him a small receipt. With this receipt he then gets in another line to get his bread. By that time the bread he wants is gone and he has to settle for an inferior bread. As his "change" he gets several slices of dark bread.

Prices in Moscow are much higher than in the United States and the services are inferior, Kerridge said. Among other prices he cited a dish of ice cream for 75 cents, a suit of clothes for $250 and a pair of shoes for $40.

A number of slides showing places of interest in Moscow were shown to both groups.

Area Elementary Band Will Form

Another Cumberland area elementary band will be organized at 9:30 a. m. Saturday when Harry Malcolm will begin the first rehearsal at West Side School.

All instrumental students, except violin pupils, who have had at least one year of instruction, whether privately or in the school instrumental program, are eligible, according to W. Valgene Routch, supervisor of music education in the county public schools.

There will be twice-a-month rehearsals the next three months and the activity will end with a concert in May. There will be rehearsals on February 23, March 9, March 23, April 6 and April 20. They will run from 9:30 until 11:30 a. m.

Although the band is primarily for students in the Cumberland area schools, those from more distant points also are eligible if they can obtain transportation to the rehearsals. Instrumental students in junior high schools also may attend.

School Bus Riders Asked To Curb Litter

Boys and girls who ride Allegany County school buses to their classes are being asked to join in the state-wide campaign against litter on the highways.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation in the county public schools, has distributed letters to all school bus contractors explaining the purpose of the program.

Mr. Ramey explained that each school bus is to be equipped with a heavy paper bag so constructed as to be hung under the dash of the bus and to the right of the driver. Pupils who ride the bus will be asked to deposit any papers, apple cores, fruit skins, candy bar wrappers and other refuse in this receptacle instead of throwing it out the bus window or on the bus floor.

This campaign is in conjunction with Governor Theodore R. McKeldin's "Keep Maryland Beautiful' drive. G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission, is chairman of the campaign in Allegany County.

Mr. Ramey is soliciting the support of all school bus contractors, drivers, principals and teachers.

Civil Service Tests Planned

Eighteen applications have been handed out by the Civil Service Commission for tests planned for three positions.

Seven men have received application forms for the firemen's test. The eligible list for the position is down to two names.

Nine men have taken out applications for the police examination. The list is depleted and three men are working on temporary appointments, pending results of the examination.

Two applications have been given out for the stenographer post. The test is being given to fill an opening in the Police Department.

Wallace G. Ullery, secretary of the commission, said all applications must be returned by February 18 at 4 p. m. The tests will be given by the commission February 25 at 7 p. m. in Fort Hill High School.

Morrissey Hearing Reset For Feb. 19

An Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners hearing for J. N. Morrissey, operator of the Mountain Museum on Porter Road in Eckhart, to show cause why his beer license should not be suspended or revoked, has been rescheduled for 10 a. m. Tuesday, February 19.

Morrissey originally was summoned to appear before the liquor board Tuesday but that meeting was postponed. Morrissey was convicted in Circuit Court January 18 on two charges of after-hour sale of beer on Saturday, December 22. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris gave him a one-year suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction.

Kelly Employes Donate $900 To Heart Campaign

Fund Now $2,700; Meeting At Y Today

A total of $2,700 has been contributed to date in the annual Allegany - Garrett County Heart Association fund campaign, according to a report made last night at a meeting of the executive board in Central YMCA.

Of this amount, $900 was received from the Kelly Employes Charity Fund of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company. J. Wallace Close, industrial chairman for the drive, reported the check for this amount had been received from W. M. Petrea, secretary-treasurer for the Kelly fund. It was an increase of $200 over last year's contribution, Heart officials noted.

Other amounts have been received from individuals, direct mail and from other divisions of the campaign.

The major effort in the drive is a house-to-house solicitation on Sunday, February 24, when the nation-wide Heart Sunday is observed. Mrs. Ralph C. Isiminger, local Heart Sunday chairman, said last night her organization for Heart Sunday is nearing completion.

A luncheon meeting is scheduled today at noon in Central YMCA for Heart Sunday zone, neighborhood and community captains, at which time Mrs. Isiminger will distribute literature and material for the several hundred solicitors.

William A. Wilson, county chairman for the drive, has reported that the various communities in the county have their campaigns organized and underway.

Bill To Retain Two Judges Is Introduced

College Resolution Goes To Senate

Senator Charles M. See yesterday introduced a bill to insure that Allegany County will have two Circuit Court judges.

He said the proposal was entered as Senate Bill 306 and was introduced as recommended by the Allegany County Bar Association.

The bill would put Allegany County back where it was several years ago, when a constitutional amendment provided for the appointment of Circuit Court judges in several counties, including Garrett.

The amendment in effect took away one of Allegany County's judges, since it left unchanged the provisions for three judges in the circuit.

Senator See said that his bill provides the position be filled by appointment of the governor when Chief Judge George Henderson retires in 1958, and by election two years later.

The bill was referred to the committee on Judicial Proceedings.

Also introduced by Sen. See yesterday was Senate Resolution 16, which calls upon the State Board of Education to look into the possibilities of establishing a liberal arts college in Allegany County.

It was referred to the Education Committee for report.

An identical resolution is being introduced by the Allegany County Delegation in the House of Delegates.

The school construction program was being discussed in Annapolis last night at a joint meeting of Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, and Joseph M. Miller, a member of the board, with Allegany County legislators.

Four Youths Are Sentenced

Four Frostburg area youths were found guilty of being delinquent minors at a hearing yesterday in Juvenile Court before Magistrate Morris Baron.

The boys were charged with stealing gasoline and oil from the Western Maryland Railway Company's station at Frostburg, and with the theft of a car radio and two wheel rims from a junk yard at Midlothian.

Two of the youths were sentenced to two years at the Maryland Training School for Boys. They had been placed on probation yast year after being found guilty of stealing guns and ammunition from a store in Frostburg.

Mr. Baron placed the other two boys on probation for two years, and ordered one of the youths to surrender his driver's license for a period of one year.

The hearing originally was set for Wednesday morning, but three of the boys took a car and drove to Cleveland, Ohio. They were persuaded to return by a brother of one of the boys, who is living there, and arrived here yesterday morning.

Finance Group Told Contract Award Doubtful

By LOUIS PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (AP) — Contractor Victor Frenkil said today he was considering a court challenge of a 9¾ million dollar contract for construction of a State office building in Baltimore.

Frenkil, head of Baltimore Contractors, Inc., called the contract "irregular" and "of at least doubtful validity."

He used the descriptions in a prepared statement released after a second Senate Finance Committee hearing on the awarding of the job to Blake Construction Co. of Washington for $9,754,000.

At the hearing his attorney, Paul F. Due, told the committee that the Board of Public Works—composed of the governor, State treasurer and comptroller — "let a changed contract. "He contended that the contract "as it was awarded, was never submitted to competitive bidding."

Due said Blake had entered a basic bid of $9,986,000 on the 15-story aluminum-walled building. The next lowest bid was $9,989,000 submitted jointly by Baltimore Contractors and Terminal Construction Co. of New Jersey.

Blake Bid Was Low

After the bids were opened, said Due, the board noted that Blake was low, then authorized the Department of Public Improvements to negotiate with that firm for certain changes to reduce costs.

These changes resulted in the $9,754,000 contract.

The Frenkil spokesman contended that the board, having decided to change the building specifications to bring the cost within the amount of money available, should have sought new offers from the other original bidders as well as Blake.

If the negotiations with only one firm were legal, said Due, "it's bad policy and the law should be changed."

The committee yesterday heard J. O'Donnell, public improvements director, and Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert describe the contract award as "perfectly legal."

Urged Other Materials

O'Donnell said Baltimore-Terminal had urged the use of certain alternate materials and features allowed under the contract in such a combination that its bid would have been lowest.

He said the board "could have manipulated these various alternates" but, even with Frenkil's low bid under these circumstances, the State would have wound up paying at least $125,000 more for the job.

Committee Chairman Turnbull (D-Balto County) told Due he felt the committee had not attached any sinister meaning to O'Donnell's use of the word "manipulated."

"I feel certain—and I believe the

36-Acre Site May Be Zoned For Business

No Objections Filed At Hearing

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night recommended that the Mayor and Council rezone for business a 36-acre tract north of the Industrial Boulevard.

The formal recommendation will be presented to the Mayor and Council Monday. It was made after the commission held a public hearing on the proposal. No objections were filed.

W. Earle Cobey, local attorney, appeared to urge that the area be rezoned for business.

The C&P Telephone Company, he said, has options on land between Memorial and Sommerville avenues, and plans to build a warehouse if the area is rezoned.

Mr. Cobey pointed out that the B&O has taken all land south of the Boulevard for its yard expansion program, and that the area to the north will provide ideal locations for business purposes.

He said the plan will cause no hardships, as it is virtually devoid of residences.

J. Henry Holzshu, local realtor, told the commission he favored the proposal.

Benjamin W. O'Rourke introduced the motion to approve and it was passed unanimously.

The area is bounded by the easterly side of Wempe Drive, southerly side of Fourth Street as extended through to Church Street, the southerly side of Church Street as extended through to the easterly side of White Oaks Avenue, the easterly side of White Oaks Avenue, Oldtown Road and the north side of the present business district extending from Oldtown Road to Wempe Drive.

Parole Violator Gets Sentence Of Two Years

James Norman Dahl, 24, this city, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Chief Judge George Henderson as a parole violator.

Dahl was convicted last October 17 by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris on a charge concerning the paternity of a child born out of wedlock. Judge Harris gave him a two-year sentence in the House of Correction and suspended it on condition that he pay $20 a month for support of the child until she reaches the age of 18, and pay the confinement costs of $619 within 12 months.

The defendant was arrested January 11 after State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher petitioned that Dahl was a parole violator for having failed to pay for support of the child.

Dahl's excuse for failure to pay the $20 a month was that he was going to marry the girl and saw no reason for paying the amount.

When Dahl asked Judge Henderson if he would not send him to the Maryland Reformatory instead of the House of Correction, the defendant was asked by Fletcher whether he had been arrested previously. Only for being drunk, was the answer. A further question as to whether Dahl was the leader of a gang of so-called "drapes" called the "Pachukas" brought a denial. Dahl did recall the Pachukas' motto was "We Fight For God."

Judge Henderson told Dahl he would give no thought to suspending the two-year sentence unless the young man were able to pay at least $60 over the weekend for support of the child and at least $200 of the confinement costs and keep the payments up in the future. He cautioned the girl that she would be making a further mistake if she should marry Dahl.

Two Area Men Enlist In Navy

Enlisting in the US Navy at the local station during the past week were Raymond Metz, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas I. Metz, Barton; and Donald Richard Ayers, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin R. Ayers, Bowling Green.

Both men were assigned to Bainbridge for basic training.

Three Local Men Held In Area Thefts

Three Cumberland men, arrested Wednesday night and questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's office in connection with a series of breakings and enterings in the area, are being held in City Jail pending further investigation in the cases.

Apprehended were Donald Moore, RD 2, Baltimore Pike, John R. Parsons and James E. Parsons, both of the Kelly Boulevard Apartments.

The trio was taken into custody by Sgt. James Brown, Detective George Furstenberg and Officer Harry Iser. They were questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's office but no charges have been preferred.

Meanwhile, County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya and Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, interrogated three men arrested Wednesday in Waynesboro, Pa., and lodged in the county jail at Chambersburg.

The two officers returned to Cumberland late last evening and said they were checking several leads in this area to see if the Pennsylvania trio was involved in offenses being investigated here.

Local authorities said they had recovered some of the loot taken from Lloyd Beverly Gasoline Station on Oldtown Road, a gasoline station on U. S. Route 40 east of Cumberland, a local liquor store, and Wolford's garage atop Martin's Mountain.

Articles taken from these places include cigarets, lighters, watches, merchandise from an electric refrigerator, candy, chewing gum, quart bottles of liquor, chewing gum and spark plugs.

Voting Rolls Drop 20 Here

Registration rolls of the City of Cumberland dropped 20 during January, according to a report by Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk.

It was a dull month, with only three new voters registering, and one request for changes in registration data.

The names of 23 voters who died in recent weeks were stricken from the records.

The total number of registered votrs on January 31 was 12,761, 20 fewer than the month before.

They include 6,603 white males, 5,519 white females, 152 colored males and 91 colored females.

McNeill Raid Enactment Will Feature Bargain Days

A re-enactment of the capture of two Union generals here by McNeill's Rangers from the South Branch Valley (Feb. 22, 1865) will be the main feature of a three-day civic celebration May 17, 18 and 20 in connection with Old Fashioned Bargain Days. This was tentatively decided yesterday at a meeting in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves by the Cumberland Historical Celebrations Committee.

Descendants from the South Branch of those who fought with McNeill will be invited to impersonate their ancestors in the May pageant here. Generals George C. Crook and Benjamin F. Kelly, the two generals who were captured, and other Union principals will be portrayed by local people. Committee chairman Harry I. Stegmaier named a subcommittee to study costs and financing, and to report back at a meeting March 15.

Attending yesterday's session were T. J. Klauenberg, Charles E. Bramble, Harry B. Williams, C. W. Seasholtz, Bernard E. Sitter, J. William Hunt, Simon Rosenbaum, Mrs. Esther Rosenbaum and Mayor Eves.

The Confederate raiders, it is planned, would move in from Greene Street to Baltimore Street, re-enact the capture at the Windsor Hotel and the C. D. Kenny Grocery building (formerly the Revere House) and then ride down Virginia Avenue to Wiley Ford. This is the route followed by the McNeill Rangers in their famous raid here in 1865.

Other events will be scheduled for May 17, 18 and 20, and on Sunday, May 19, the nationally famous sports car races sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Club will be staged at the airport.

The Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce plans to hold its annual Old Fashioned Bargain Days at the same time, so that the week of May 13-20 will offer sports, bargain days, a historical pageant, dances and other events for the entertainment of the thousands of visitors expected here at that time. The McNeill raid will take the place of the customary parade, according to plans tentatively approved yesterday.

Governor Irked At House Group's Rejection Of Driver Examinations

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 7 (AP)—Rejection by a House committee of a bill to require re-examination of auto drivers brought a bitter denunciation from Gov. McKeldin tonight.

He accused legislators of taking a "cavalier view . . . toward important safety bills" and said he was "shocked" at the action.

McKeldin's statement was issued several hours after the House Judiciary Committee voted an unfavorable report on a bill which would have required drivers to be re-examined every three years.

The action has the effect of killing the bill, unless it is petitioned onto the floor of the House. McKeldin expressed hope it would be reconsidered and that "the remaining (motor vehicle) bills will be considered with more sincerity by responsible committee members."

"The cavalier view which some legislators are taking toward important highway safety bills which have been introduced is amazing in the face of the heavy loss of life on our roads," he said.

Although State Police had opposed the bill at a hearing which the House committee conducted on the re-examination bill, McKeldin said "the need for such legislation long has been evident and frequently expressed by law enforcement officers."

State Police officials had opposed the measure on grounds it would inconvenience many innocent drivers, be cumbersome to administrate, and would not materially reduce accidents. They argued that it would not get rid of chronic traffic offenders who figure in most fatal accidents.

They suggested the Motor Vehicles Department, which argued for the bill, along with the Traffic Safety Commission, could bring its files up to date through a reregistration of drivers by mail. The police officials said tougher traffic laws and more police were the answer to safety problems.

The House committee rejected the bill 13-6, with many members re-echoing the State Police arguments.

The committee plans to hold a hearing tomorrow on a bill to set up a point system penalty for traffic offenders, which police contended would be more effective than re-examination.

Del. Simpkins (D - Somerset), committee chairman, said persons most likely to lose their license under the re - examination bill would be those least likely to cause accidents. He said old people and handicapped persons often are the most careful drivers.

Some other members denounced it as "class legislation against old people."
